These heavy trucks were parked at a camp near Prudhoe Bay. Work on the 789-mile line will start when a federal permit is issued. The job will take about four years.

Reaction Mixed To Nixon Actions

Service station owners reacting to President Nixon's energy message say they will for the most part voluntarily close on Sundays. But many of them are either skeptical of the effects Sunday closings will have or upset because they say their income is being cut.

Reaction to Nixon's speech also came quickly from homeowners, politicians and businessmen. But gas station owners were the most vocal.

"A Sunday sales halt probably will effect some fuel savings, but will kill off marginal gas stations," said Walter F. Stein of Columbus, the Ohio representative to the National Congress of Petroleum Dealers.

There were station owners who echoed Phil Benson, a Shell station manager in Phoenix. "We'll just have to tighten our belts a little. This is an emergency," he said. "There is a shortage, and if we don't cooperate now, when the government comes down hard, we'll have nothing at all."

Most station managers contacted after Nixon's Sunday night address said they would comply, but some were upset.

Some said the 15 per cent cut in gasoline production which Nixon will order will cut their profits unless the government allows them a greater profit margin. Others said the production cut would run them out of business. Representatives of dealers associations said that since the great majority of stations are closed anyway on Sunday the closing would have little of its anticipated effect.

Nixon also said Sunday night that he wants legislation to set mandatory speed limits of 50 miles per hour for cars and 55 m.p.h. for buses and trucks. He also said he will sign legislation cutting heating oil by 15 per cent to consumers, 10 per cent to industry and 25 per cent to commercial businesses.

Govs. Tom McCall of Oregon and David Hall of Oklahoma applauded the President's actions, but they said they doubted the public would observe 50 m.p.h. speed limits if they see buses and trucks whizzing by them.

Pennsylvania Gov. Milton J. Shapp urged an immediate ban on all American oil exports and a restriction on oil company prices. He said unless such a restriction was imposed, "then the people are being asked to sacrifice more than the oil companies."

Dutch Jumbo Jet Skyjacked By Palestinian Guerrillas

BEIRUT (AP) — A Dutch jumbo jet with 264 persons aboard which was hijacked by Palestinian guerrillas landed safely today in Libya, a spokesman for the Dutch airline KLM announced.

"The plane, passengers and crew are reported to be okay," the spokesman said in Amsterdam. He said a representative of the Dutch Embassy was at the Tripoli airport.

The airline said the Boeing 747 was carrying 247 passengers and 17 crew members when it was hijacked Sunday night over Iraq. It was reported seized by about 12 members of an obscure group called the Arab Youth Organization for the Liberation of Palestine.

The plane had just left Beirut on a flight from Amsterdam to Tokyo, and KLM said those aboard included 159 Japanese passengers and two Japanese stewardesses.

The hijackers first forced the plane to land at Damascus, then an hour later ordered it to Nicosia, Cyprus. It stayed there nearly three hours while the hijackers tried unsuccessfully to get President Makarios to release seven members of their organization. The seven were jailed in Cyprus last April after an attack on the residence of the Israeli ambassador and an unsuccessful attempt to hijack an Israeli airliner from Nicosia airport.

The hijackers threatened to blow up the plane in Nicosia if anyone besides three airport workers approached it during refusing. But the plea to Cypriot President Archbishop Makarios to free their seven comrades was not backed by any threats.

The KLM flight was believed to have been chosen by the young hijackers because of Arab charges that KLM transported volunteers to Israel during the October war. The airline denied the charges.

The hijacking was denounced by the Palestine Liberation Organization as "a distortion of our struggle." It was the first terrorist act by Palestinian guerrillas since the outbreak of the Arab-Israeli war on Oct. 6, and the PLO said hijacking was an "outmoded" tactic.

Nixon Orders Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says he is cutting 15 per cent from deliveries of gasoline and home heating oil to stave off severe fuel-shortage damage to the nation's economy.

The moves will mean homes six degrees cooler than normal this winter and not enough gasoline to go around.

To start saving gasoline, Nixon asked filling stations to stop selling it on Sundays, and pledged he would order such a ban once Congress gives him the authority.

In a radio-television address Sunday, Nixon said deliveries of airline jet fuel also will be cut 15 per cent, industries will be denied 10 per cent of their oil wants and commercial buildings must do without 25 per cent of their heating oil.

These and other measures announced Sunday would reduce an expected 17 per cent petroleum shortage to perhaps 7 per cent, Nixon said, but the remaining shortage will require additional measures to close the energy gap and avoid economic damage.

Nixon continued to hold in reserve, as a last resort, the possibility of direct consumer gasoline rationing or high fuel taxes.

Under existing authority, Nixon announced these steps:

—Publication, due Tuesday, of regulations to take effect next Jan. 1, ordering heating-oil dealers to sell householders 15 per cent less heating oil than they got in 1972, commercial establishments 25 per cent less; and industries 10 per cent less. This move imposes consumer rationing, but without the complications of issuing fuel coupons.

Arab Meeting Will Take Up Peace Plans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Leaders of 17 Arab nations are gathering in Algiers in search of a unified approach to the proposed peace conference with Israel.

The Israeli government said it is willing in principle to begin the conference in Geneva Dec. 18. But Egypt, although it also has expressed willingness to participate, was reported reluctant to start the conference until there is some withdrawal of Israeli troops along the Suez Canal.

Negotiations between Israel and Egypt for a joint troop withdrawal were deadlocked.

The Arab summit conference in Algiers was aimed at developing "a course of action ready to face any development," one informant in Algiers said. "This would include more fighting if diplomatic efforts fail, plus economic pressure to create a favorable international climate."

But the first pan-Arab meeting since the October war was plagued in advance by characteristic Arab disunity. Iraq and Libya were boycotting the meeting, claiming it would only lead to capitulation to Israel. And King Hussein of Jordan sent a representative to avoid an embarrassing face-to-face confrontation with Yasir Arafat and other Palestinian guerrilla leaders who reject Hussein's claim to speak for the Palestinians in Jordan.

Foreign ministers of the 17 states met in Algiers Saturday and Sunday to draft resolutions for submission to their chiefs. Conference sources said it was hoped the result would be at least the framework of a pan-Arab program of action.

The Israeli cabinet announced that, while it is willing to attend the proposed Geneva conference, Premier Golda Meir would give her final decision after Israel receives a formal invitation.

The Israelis have been trying to delay the peace conference until after their national election Dec. 31. Government sources said the conference can't get down to substantive negotiations until after the new political lineup in Israel is decided.

Proposal of regulations in December to impose controls on distribution of gasoline to wholesale and retail dealers, cutting deliveries 15 per cent below the anticipated demand for the first quarter of 1974. Refineries will be asked to start making such cuts immediately on a voluntary basis, the White House said.

—Government-controlled allocations of jet fuel to airlines will be cut Dec. 1, limiting international lines to their 1972 fuel consumption and domestic lines to 95 per cent of their 1972 levels. All airlines will be cut back 15 per cent below last year's supplies starting Jan. 7.

—Final regulations were scheduled for publication Tuesday, to take effect Dec. 7, forbidding coal-burning power plants from switching to oil.

Nixon pledged to take the following steps as soon as Congress passes emergency legislation authorizing them:

—A ban on gasoline sales from 9 p.m. on Saturdays to midnight on Sunday nights. Nixon asked filling stations to adopt such a ban voluntarily in the meantime, beginning Dec. 1.

—Establishment of nationwide highway speed limits of 50 miles an hour for automobiles and 55 miles an hour for longdistance trucks and buses.

—Bans on ornamental residential lighting and on non-essential commercial lighting.

—Reductions of fuel deliveries for general aviation, imposing a 20 per cent cut on fuel for air taxis and industrial flying, 40 per cent on corporate jets and other business flying and a 50 per cent cutback on flying for pleasure or instruction.

Nixon warned that "additional actions will be necessary to further offset the anticipated shortage."

"Above all," he said, "every step will be taken to insure that any disruptions to our economy which may occur are shortlived, and that they do not cause lasting damage."

Ohio Dealers Rap Gasoline Cuts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio gasoline dealers are critical of President Nixon's plans to ease the energy crisis, but state officials said the proposals are similar to programs already planned or underway in the Buckeye State.

Dealers are most upset by the President's plans to divert 15 per cent of the present gasoline production to fuel oil.

"It'll just kill off more marginal operators," said Walter Stein, a Columbus Marathon dealer and Ohio's representative to the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers.

"The average dealer is already suffering. He has been cut back by the oil companies, and federal price ceilings keep him from recouping his loss," Stein added.

"His only course is to fire the help or go broke. The little guy is going to go broke."

Gov. John Gilligan's press secretary, Robert Tenenbaum, said the President's message was similar to programs already planned or underway in Ohio.

"The points the President made are very much like the ones made by the Governor last week when he announced he would ask the General Assembly for special authority to deal with energy problems," Tenenbaum said.

Gilligan has asked authority to cut speed limits on state highways and has already ordered state cars not to exceed 60 miles per hour. Thermostats in state offices have been ordered down to 68 degrees.

State Environmental Protection Agency head Ira Whitman said he felt President Nixon's plan to ration heating oil was fair.

Whitman also noted that the cutback in gasoline allocations might ease air pollution in Ohio's most congested cities.

He said he was disappointed, however, that the President did not urge mass transit as an alternate to the auto.

Central Ohio Transit Authority officials, meanwhile, have expressed concern that the fuel shortage could curb their plans to extend service in the Columbus area.

COTA takes over bus operations in the capital city in January.

Two Ohio Republican congressmen expressed general support for the President's program.

Ohio Holiday Traffic Claims Lives Of 27

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rainy weather and the gasoline shortage may have combined to help Ohio to a better-than-average traffic safety record for the long Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

Traffic claimed 27 lives in the buckeye state, ten fewer than Ohio Highway Safety Director Eugene O'Grady had predicted. Last year's toll was 39.

The worst accident was Saturday when four persons died in a crash on Interstate 75 near Piqua.

The dead:

SUNDAY

HARTVILLE — Kristine L. Kramer, 18, of Kent, in a two-car crash in Stark County.

SATURDAY

NEW PHILADELPHIA — Neil A. Thornton, 17, of Dover, in a one-car accident on a Tuscarawas County road.

UPPER SANDUSKY — Vincent T. Wurm, 58, of Tiffin, in a one-car accident on Ohio 67 in Wyandot County.

SANDUSKY — Arnold Estep, 49, and his wife, Faye, 47, of Castalia, when their car ran off Ohio 4 south of the Ohio Turnpike in Erie County and crashed into a culvert.

PIQUA — Michael Wolley, 20; Joseph Wolley, 2 months, and Rhonda Reeves, 20, all of Virginia Beach, Va., and James Crowder, 65, of Del Rio, Tenn., when a car and pickup truck collided on Interstate 75 near Piqua.

MASSILLON — Joseph R. Mahon of Canton in a one-car crash on U.S. 62 and Middle Branch Road when his car went out of control on wet pavement and struck a utility pole, a highway patrolman said.

YOUNGSTOWN — Wyrlyne Thompson, 28, of Youngstown, in a one-car crash on Interstate 80 in Mahoning County.

CIRCLEVILLE — Clarence Roach, 49, of Columbus, when his tank truck crashed through a guard rail on Ohio 23 and plunged down a 70-foot embankment.

FRIDAY

COLUMBUS — Lena Kinsler, 71, of Columbus, in a six-car accident on U.S. 23 in Franklin County.

PORTSMOUTH — John W. Louder, 20, of Scioto, in a two-car wreck in the Scioto County village of Clarktown.

SOMERSET — John L. Miller, 28, of Zanesville, killed in a one-car wreck on Ohio 204 north of here.

THURSDAY

MIDDLETOWN — Bonnie Layne, 33, of Middletown, struck by a car on a downtown street.

DAYTON — John Trader, 42, of Dayton, killed when his motorcycle and a car collided at an Interstate 70 intersection in Montgomery County.

CLEVELAND — Charles Payne, 18; Richard Beatty, 17, and Frederick Patterson, 20, all of Cleveland, when their car swerved out of control on the Memorial Shoreway and struck a light post.

INDIAN HILL — Clara Hughes, 72, and Elizabeth Willenbrink, 71, both of Cincinnati, in a one-car accident on Indian Hill Road in Hamilton County.

COLUMBUS — Wallace Edward Rounsavell, 59, of Worthington, in a one-car wreck on Ohio 161 in northern Franklin County.

CLEVELAND — Michael Soldan, 16, of Cleveland, when his car struck a tree.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT

CINCINNATI — Joseph Barth, 17, of Cincinnati, in a one-car crash on a rural road in Clermont County.

SPRINGFIELD — Lilly Mae Vanover, 48, of Springfield, when struck by a vehicle while crossing a Springfield street.

CLEVELAND — Edward Reno, 44, of Cleveland, in a one-car wreck on Randall Road in Cleveland.

have acted to close stores on Sundays.

U.S. Rep. Samuel Devine, R-12, said the President's program should prevent the need for gasoline rationing.

Papadopoulos Out As Greek Chief; Army Takes Over

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Greece's new military rulers pulled most tanks and extra troops out of Athens today, indicating firm control of the country, and began removing pictures of ousted President George Papadopoulos from public buildings.

The ousted strongman who as an army colonel engineered the 1967 military takeover was reported under house arrest at his seaside home near Athens. He was deposed Sunday by a group of conservative generals in a bloodless coup.

No disturbances were reported anywhere in the country; activity in Athens today was normal, and the traffic was heavy as usual.

In one of his first official acts, the new president, Lt. Gen. Phaedon Gizikis, freed three former politicians who had been put under house arrest last week in the wake of the student uprising in which 13 persons were killed.

The three — ex-Premier Panayotis Kanellopoulos and former ministers John Zighdis and George Mavros — had expressed support for the students demanding the overthrow of Papadopoulos.

Despite this overture to the foes of military rule, the new regime indicated it was junking Papadopoulos' promise of a return to limited parliamentary government next year. The generals said they could not stand by while the country was being "dragged into an electoral adventure" and was threatened by "anarchy, chaos and vandalism," an apparent reference to the student uprising.

Gizikis, who commanded the 1st Army, and his associates moved swiftly against those considered loyal to Papadopoulos.

They ousted the commander-in-chief of the armed forces, Gen. Dimitrios Zagorianakos; the army chief, Lt. Gen. Michael Mastrandonis; the air force commander, Air Vice Marshal Thomas Mitsanas; the Athens police chief, Nicholas Daskalopoulos, and Premier Spyros Markezinis and his cabinet.

The navy chief, Rear Adm. Petros Arapakis, was the only service chief to escape the purge.

The new regime was also reported purging the hierarchy of the vast state police network that Papadopoulos built up in the seven years after his colonels' junta overthrew Greece's last parliamentary government.

Adamantios Androutsopoulos, who had been finance minister, was named premier. He heads a cabinet of retired generals, a retired admiral and conservative politicians.

Gizikis, who is in his mid-50s, is described as a rightist, a staunch supporter of Greece's membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and a friend of ex-King Constantine. But there was no indication that the new president would reverse Papadopoulos' abolition of the monarchy last June.

Some observers expressed belief that Gizikis is not the real power in the new government. There was speculation that the architect of the coup and the new strongman is Dimitrios Ioannidis, the military police chief.

Some sources said Papadopoulos had tried unsuccessfully to ease Ioannidis out. Ioannidis was also said to have been infuriated when Papadopoulos waited for four days before moving to put down the student uprising.

5-Member Lottery Panel To Be Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A five-member commission to set up and run a state lottery is expected to be named this week by Gov. John J. Gilligan.

The lottery and the Vietnam veterans' bonus share the spotlight this week at the statehouse.

State legislators hope revenue from lottery ticket sales will help pay for the estimated $300 million in bonds the state will sell to pay the bonuses.

Neither the first lottery ticket nor the first bonus is expected to be available before spring.

The governor is expected to name three Democrats and two Republicans to the lottery commission this week. Voters approved the commission in the May election.

The commissioners will earn $5,000 annually each. The Governor is authorized also to appoint a chief operating officer for the lottery at a salary of $25,000 a year.

The commissioners will decide ticket prices, where tickets will be sold and where the lottery headquarters will be located.

Cleveland put out an early bid for the headquarters and the approximately 200 jobs it will entail.

The governor, and three top cabinet officers make up the committee which will plan administration of the bonus. The committee sessions will be presided over by state Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

Indiana Man Killed In Rail Mishap

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Chris Schlotterback, 69, of Garrett, Ind., died Sunday when a box car overturned and crushed him, the Defiance County sheriff's office said.

Deputies said Schlotterback was riding on the side of the box car during switching operations when the mishap occurred. The victim was an employee of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

Weather

Showers and thundershowers today and tonight. Partly Cloudy Tuesday. High Sunday, 61; low, 38. Temperatures will range from the mid 50s today to the mid 40s tonight. Seventy per cent chance of rain tonight, 20 per cent chance Tuesday.

Ohio Holiday Traffic Claims Lives Of 27

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rainy weather and the gasoline shortage may have combined to help Ohio to a better-than-average traffic safety record for the long Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

Traffic claimed 27 lives in the buckeye state, ten fewer than Ohio Highway Safety Director Eugene O'Grady had predicted. Last year's toll was 39.

The worst accident was Saturday when four persons died in a crash on Interstate 75 near Piqua.

The dead:

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices plummeted today in what analysts described as investor disappointment with President Nixon's energy message Sunday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 23.93 at 830.07, while declines led advances on the New York Stock Exchange by about 7 to 1.

"A lot of people were disappointed with Nixon's comments," said Manown "Buck" Kisor, analyst with Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis. Brokers noted that investors fear the energy situation could lead to an economic slowdown.

Gulf Oil was volume leader on the NYSE, up 5/8 to 21 1/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index at noon was 1.75 at 94.74, while the NYSE index was off 1.27 at 51.82.

Other Big Board prices included RCA, down 1 to 18 3/4; McDonald's off 2 3/4 to 44 1/2; United Aircraft, off 2 3/4 to 24 1/4; and Eastman Kodak, off 3 3/4 to 118 3/4.

Laurence Harvey Dies Of Cancer

LONDON (AP) — British movie star Laurence Harvey died of cancer at his London home Sunday night, friends reported today. He was 45.

The actor with the soft, suave manner had been ill for the past 18 months. Friends called on him repeatedly in recent weeks.

Harvey was married for the third time at the end of last year. His bride was fashion model Paulene Stone, mother of his 3-year-old daughter Domino.

During the last months at home Harvey worked on a script for a film he wanted to start shooting early next year. Among the recent stream of callers were Elizabeth Taylor, Rex Harrison and one of his closest friends, playwright Wolf Mankowitz.

Friends said Harvey will be cremated at a private ceremony in Golders Green, London, on Wednesday.

Harvey, a chain smoker, always tried to live like a jet set star with stylish clothes, a big-spending manner and a fund of showbiz anecdotes. On the screen he was more effective in roles that gave him the chance to exude quiet, wellbred menace.

Harvey spent most of his childhood with his parents in Johannesburg. After serving three years in the South African army he made up his mind to be a star and came to Britain at 19 on an army grant of $6 a week.

Kennedy Far Ahead In New Poll

PRINCETON, N.J. — The Gallup Poll says its latest survey of Democrats puts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts far ahead of other possible contenders for the party's 1976 presidential nomination.

The poll indicated that Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine were the next leading choices, though far behind Kennedy.

In the Nov. 2-5 survey, 627 adults who identified themselves as Democrats were asked the following:

"Here is a list of people who have been mentioned as possible presidential candidates for the Democratic party in 1976. Which one would you like to see nominated as the Democratic candidate for president in 1976?"

Kennedy was the choice of 41 per cent of those surveyed. Wallace had 15 per cent, and Muskie had nine per cent.

Sens. George McGovern of South Dakota and Henry M. Jackson of Washington were tied with six per cent. None of the other six potential candidates had more than four per cent.

The polling organization noted that a survey this fall indicated Kennedy would defeat Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan of California by 50 per cent to 43 per cent in a presidential election. Reagan was the top choice of Republicans in a Gallup survey on the 1976 GOP nomination.

3rd Man Arrested In GE Thefts

A third man has been arrested and charged with receiving stolen property in connection with the thefts at the General Electric plant on E. Ohio St.

Thomas E. Manson, 26, 972 1/2 S. Pickaway St., was booked at the city police department Saturday afternoon and released on a $5,000 recognizance bond pending his appearance in municipal court.

Two other Circleville men were arrested on grand larceny charges last week by city police in connection with the theft of light bulbs from the local plant.

Vandals Hit In City

Windows and coin boxes were the targets of vandals in the city.

Thirty windows were broken in the Circleville Iron and Metal building, Washington and Logan Sts., Saturday afternoon.

The windshield was smashed in a car belonging to Sharon Remley, 223 E. Mound St. sometime Thursday.

Skylab Crewmen Checking Out Sun

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — While many nations wrestle with the energy crisis, the Skylab 3 astronauts concentrate on a study of the sun that could help develop an endless source of pollution-free energy.

After a midday check of instruments, solar physicist Edward G. Gibson planned to aim the space laboratory's $121.2-million set of eight telescopes at the sun.

This will be repeated many times during the 84-day mission, as it was on the first two Skylab flights, to give researchers a clearer idea how this sphere's hot gases and turbulent energy control what happens on earth and throughout the solar system.

Gibson, commander Gerald P. Carr and William R. Pogue all plan to operate the telescope console, but the bulk of the work will be done by Gibson.

The three astronauts finally finished

Ford Nomination And Energy Matters Studied In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nomination of Gerald R. Ford to be vice president and energy legislation share top billing this week as Congress returns from its Thanksgiving recess.

The Senate, starting debate today on the Ford nomination, is to vote on confirmation Tuesday.

No senator has announced he intends to vote against the nomination, unanimously approved by the Senate Rules Committee after its examination of Ford and his record.

Stolen Money Order Cashed In Circleville

Circleville police are warning merchants in the area to be on the watch for money orders stolen from the Kroger Company warehouse in Columbus.

A young woman cashed a $90.50 forged money order at the Sharff's Store on W. Main St. and attempted to cash one at Christopher's Don Boutique, 119 S. Court St., Wednesday afternoon.

The money orders were issued by Republic Franklin of Tyler Texas and bear serial numbers CI-28282001 through CI-28282100.

Anyone seeing the stolen money orders should contact the Circleville Police Department.

Commissioners Approve Animal Claims

Pickaway County Commissioners Wayne Hines, Dick T. Tootle and L. Robert Liston today approved animal claims totaling $487.70 to five farmers.

The claims, for livestock killed by dogs, were: S. E. Beers, Route 2 Ashville, $40; Forrest Hopkins, Route 2, $207.70; Richard Hanley, Route 1 Ashville, $175; Lowell Williams, Route 4, $40; Lewis Hay, Lockbourne, $25.

In other business today, Charles Wilburn was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Jerry Leist on the Pickaway County Board of Mental Retardation. The term expires Oct. 23, 1975.

LE Recount Does Not Change Election

A recount of votes in the four Hocking County precincts which are in the Logan Elm School District did not change the outcome of the Nov. 6 general election.

The recounts had been requested by Carl Reichelderfer, who lost by one vote to Frank Seimer for the Logan Elm School Board, and by a citizen's committee for the 5-mill operating levy. The operating levy vote was changed by one negative ballot but still lost in the overall count including Pickaway County by 11 votes.

Open Letter

Dear Friends,

As in many other professions, funeral directors must adhere to strict codes of ethics in the conduct of their business. The laws of the various states they operate in must be obeyed. They must respect and observe all creeds and religious customs of those they serve. Only in this way do funeral directors merit the respect and support of the families in their community.

Laurence Harvey Dies Of Cancer

LONDON (AP) — British movie star Laurence Harvey died of cancer at his London home Sunday night, friends reported today. He was 45.

The actor with the soft, suave manner had been ill for the past 18 months. Friends called on him repeatedly in recent weeks.

Harvey was married for the third time at the end of last year. His bride was fashion model Paulene Stone, mother of his 3-year-old daughter Domino.

During the last months at home Harvey worked on a script for a film he wanted to start shooting early next year. Among the recent stream of callers were Elizabeth Taylor, Rex Harrison and one of his closest friends, playwright Wolf Mankowitz.

Friends said Harvey will be cremated at a private ceremony in Golders Green, London, on Wednesday.

Harvey, a chain smoker, always tried to live like a jet set star with stylish clothes, a big-spending manner and a fund of showbiz anecdotes.

On the screen he was more effective in roles that gave him the chance to exude quiet, wellbred menace.

Harvey spent most of his childhood with his parents in Johannesburg. After serving three years in the South African army he made up his mind to be a star and came to Britain at 19 on an army grant of $6 a week.

Kennedy Far Ahead In New Poll

PRINCETON, N.J. — The Gallup Poll says its latest survey of Democrats puts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts far ahead of other possible contenders for the party's 1976 presidential nomination.

The poll indicated that Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine were the next leading choices, though far behind Kennedy.

In the Nov. 2-5 survey, 627 adults who identified themselves as Democrats were asked the following:

"Here is a list of people who have been mentioned as possible presidential candidates for the Democratic party in 1976. Which one would you like to see nominated as the Democratic candidate for president in 1976?"

Kennedy was the choice of 41 per cent of those surveyed. Wallace had 15 per cent, and Muskie had nine per cent.

Sens. George McGovern of South Dakota and Henry M. Jackson of Washington were tied with six per cent. None of the other six potential candidates had more than four per cent.

The polling organization noted that a survey this fall indicated Kennedy would defeat Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan of California by 50 per cent to 43 per cent in a presidential election. Reagan was the top choice of Republicans in a Gallup survey on the 1976 GOP nomination.

3rd Man Arrested In GE Thefts

A third man has been arrested and charged with receiving stolen property in connection with the thefts at the General Electric plant on E. Ohio St.

Thomas E. Manson, 26, 972 1/2 S. Pickaway St., was booked at the city police department Saturday afternoon and released on a $5,000 recognizance bond pending his appearance in municipal court.

Two other Circleville men were arrested on grand larceny charges last week by city police in connection with the theft of light bulbs from the local plant.

Vandals Hit In City

Windows and coin boxes were the targets of vandals in the city.

Thirty windows were broken in the Circleville Iron and Metal building, Washington and Logan Sts., Saturday afternoon.

The windshield was smashed in a car belonging to Sharon Remley, 223 E. Mound St. sometime Thursday.

Newark Resident Killed In Accident

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Donald Beck, about 45, of Route 6, Newark, died early today when his car and a tractor-trailer rig collided on Interstate 270 near Eastland Shopping Center in east Columbus.

Police said Beck's car burst into flame after the accident.

Skylab Crewmen Checking Out Sun

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — While many nations wrestle with the energy crisis, the Skylab 3 astronauts concentrate on a study of the sun that could help develop an endless source of pollution-free energy.

After a midday check of instruments, solar physicist Edward G. Gibson planned to aim the space laboratory's $121.2-million set of eight telescopes at the sun.

This will be repeated many times during the 84-day mission, as it was on the first two Skylab flights, to give researchers a clearer idea how this sphere's hot gases and turbulent energy control what happens on earth and throughout the solar system.

Gibson, commander Gerald P. Carr and William R. Pogue all plan to operate the telescope console, but the bulk of the work will be done by Gibson.

The three astronauts finally finished setting up housekeeping in the space station on Sunday, freeing themselves to begin scientific research in their 11th day in space.

They were to have started with an earth resources photography pass over the United States today, but that was cancelled because of heavy cloud cover. The solar study, which was to have started Tuesday, was moved up a day.

In an interview before the flight, Gibson said the sun is the ultimate source of all energy on earth. It produces its energy through thermonuclear fusion, a technique scientists around the world are working to perfect as an inexhaustible, pollution-free power source.

The goal is to harness the hydrogen bomb reaction to generate power by fusion using lithium and deuterium, which are in such abundance on earth that they would last millions of years.

Ford Nomination And Energy Matters Studied In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nomination of Gerald R. Ford to be vice president and energy legislation share top billing this week as Congress returns from its Thanksgiving recess.

The Senate, starting debate today on the Ford nomination, is to vote on confirmation Tuesday.

No senator has announced he intends to vote against the nomination, unanimously approved by the Senate Rules Committee after its examination of Ford and his record.

Stolen Money Order Cashed In Circleville

Circleville police are warning merchants in the area to be on the watch for money orders stolen from the Kroger Company warehouse in Columbus.

A young woman cashed a $90.50 forged money order at the Sharff's Store on W. Main St. and attempted to cash one at Christopher's Don Boutique, 119 S. Court St., Wednesday afternoon.

The money orders were issued by Republic Franklin of Tyler Texas and bear serial numbers CI-28282001 through CI-28282100.

Anyone seeing the stolen money orders should contact the Circleville Police Department.

Commissioners Approve Animal Claims

Pickaway County Commissioners Wayne Hines, Dick T. Tootle and L. Robert Liston today approved animal claims totaling $487.70 to five farmers.

The claims, for livestock killed by dogs, were: S. E. Beers, Route 2 Ashville, $40; Forrest Hopkins, Route 2, $207.70; Richard Hanley, Route 1 Ashville, $175; Lowell Williams, Route 4, $40; Lewis Hay, Lockbourne, $25.

In other business today, Charles Wilburn was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Jerry Leist on the Pickaway County Board of Mental Retardation. The term expires Oct. 23, 1975.

LE Recount Does Not Change Election

A recount of votes in the four Hocking County precincts which are in the Logan Elm School District did not change the outcome of the Nov. 6 general election.

The recounts had been requested by Carl Reichelderfer, who lost by one vote to Frank Seimer for the Logan Elm School Board, and by a citizen's committee for the 5-mill operating levy. The operating levy vote was changed by one negative ballot but still lost in the overall count including Pickaway County by 11 votes.

Open Letter

Dear Friends,

As in many other professions, funeral directors must adhere to strict codes of ethics in the conduct of their business. The laws of the various states they operate in must be obeyed. They must respect and observe all creeds and religious customs of those they serve. Only in this way do funeral directors merit the respect and support of the families in their community.

Sheriff Congratulated For Fight Against Crime

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight E. Radcliff received congratulations today from Ferris E. Lucas, Executive Director of the National Sheriffs' Association, for the success Pickaway County has had in joining together to fight the crime of burglary.

Sheriff Radcliff reminds everyone during the holiday season to be on guard against thieves. During this time of year, Americans have more cash available, and women especially have to protect themselves against purse-snatchers. The Sheriff reminds women to be sure and carry their purses close to their bodies, use the shoulder strap, and make sure it is closed and latched. Be sure also when going shopping to lock packages in the trunk of the car and to be sure that doors and windows are locked.

With winter comes early darkness, so it is a good idea to keep this in mind and take common sense precautions. Christmas shopping means that we are away from home more often. When leaving home, be sure to lock up and light up and leave some house lights lit. All those presents still in their boxes make very attractive loot for thieves.

Storekeepers are reminded to take extra precautions, especially during this season when they stay open later. Don't be tempted to put displays in front of your windows that would block police surveillance of the store. Shoplifters are very active this time of year, and shopkeepers should review their security.

Check with Sheriff Radcliff for more information on how you can become an important part of the National Neighborhood Watch program and reduce burglaries and protect your property and the property of your neighbors.

Improved World Grain Supplies By USDA

Production and overall supplies of world grains have improved appreciably in recent weeks, according to a local U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) official.

Walton W. Spangler, executive director of the Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), reports that the improved grain supply situation is especially apparent in exporting countries. "Crop outturns have exceeded earlier expectations in much of both Eastern and Western Europe" and prospects for the Australian wheat crop and the Asian rice crop also indicate higher levels of production than expected earlier, according to recent information released by the USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service.

"For world wheat production in 1973, the USDA has estimated a record level of about 355 million tons, up seven per cent from last year," Mr. Spangler said.

Triple Deaths Murder-Suicide

WHEELING, W.Va. (AP) — Two persons were shot to death and a suspect in the killings committed suicide in a spate of weekend gunfire beginning here and ending on Interstate 70 in Ohio, police said.

Betty Louise McLaughlin, 44, and Harold C. Poston, 37, both of Columbus, Ohio, were felled by shots fired in a corridor of the Dallas Pike Holiday Inn adjacent to I-70 on the east side of Wheeling Saturday night. Police said the woman died at the scene and Poston was dead on arrival at a Wheeling hospital.

The Ohio Highway Patrol, alerted to the shootings, stopped a suspect on I-70 a few hours later after pursuing him for several miles. The man, Merle W. Johnson, 47, also of Columbus, shot himself in the head before officers could disarm him. Police said Johnson died at a Columbus hospital early Sunday morning.

Improved World Grain Supplies By USDA

Production and overall supplies of world grains have improved appreciably in recent weeks, according to a local U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) official.

Walton W. Spangler, executive director of the Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), reports that the improved grain supply situation is especially apparent in exporting countries. "Crop outturns have exceeded earlier expectations in much of both Eastern and Western Europe" and prospects for the Australian wheat crop and the Asian rice crop also indicate higher levels of production than expected earlier, according to recent information released by the USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service.

"For world wheat production in 1973, the USDA has estimated a record level of about 355 million tons, up seven per cent from last year," Mr. Spangler said. He added that indications point to larger wheat supplies available for shipment during 1973-74 in all of the major exporting countries, except Argentina, where excessive rainfall has reduced acreage and yields of the crop to be harvested beginning in December.

"The Department also reported indications for a substantial increase in world feed grain production in 1973-74 to an estimated level of about 578 million metric tons, about 6 percent above the previous year," Spangler said. "Improved weather and crop conditions in several major producing areas were reported."

"A substantial increase in world rice production is also expected by the USDA," the county official said, "assuming continued favorable weather conditions. A 1973 world rice output of about 300 million metric tons was forecast, up about five per cent over 1972."

Spangler said that partly offsetting supply improvements was the fact that the estimates of total import requirements have been revised upward by about five per cent for wheat and feed grains. He noted that the increases in estimated import levels arose mainly in a number of countries in Africa, Asia and Latin America, where continued heavy import purchases continued in spite of increased world prices.

Spangler also noted that the confirmation of recent reports regarding the Soviet Union's grain harvest will probably raise overall world grain production and supply estimates in subsequent reports.

Fuel For Winter Spas

A gasoline shortage this winter could hit some interior resort areas such as Arizona with greater impact than the more widely patronized tropical ocean spas, according to one travel expert.

His reasoning is that it is easier to get to Florida by air than to Aspen, Colo. But air flights would be affected, too, and if many of those who usually drive to winter vacation spots tried to go by air, flights would simply not be available. But they would be less available to Sun Valley, Ida., for example, than to Southern California.

There have been no cutbacks in arrivals of early vacationers or in reservations, according to hotel managers at the spas. If many localities are to be hard hit this winter, it will have to occur after Jan. 1.

According to many reports, operators of ski area accommodations are more worried at the moment about the extent of the snowfall this winter—a perennial problem—than they are about the adequacy of gasoline and fuel oil supplies. They are confident their patrons will make it one way or another.

NEW YORK — If you're looking around for a Christmas gift for the man who has nothing, we herewith offer the first of what will be several later suggestions culled from the catalogues of treasured old American emporiums.

For example, the 125-year-old New York firm of Hammacher Schlemmer has available such goodies as:

— A $575 replica of an 1880 A.D. big-wheel bike, just dandy for the tycoon whose Rolls has run out of high octane bug-juice. Lots of included extras, such as "Front and rear wheel bearing lifetime-sealed lubrication." U.S. Grant paid only $75 for an original.

— A $795 half-scale of a 1910 Model T. "Fun for the golf course or around the grounds." Old Henry sold the full-scale 1910 Model T for $295.

— A $14 Moustache spoon. "An exact copy of the 19th century original." But who wants to spoon moustaches?

— A walk-in Cellar Master, a $3,595 wine vault. Holds 1,848 bottles at 53-57 degrees Fahrenheit. "Vibration free." But will the lucky recipient be?

— A "golden brown and crackly crisp" $78 cochon de lait, usually called a suckling pig by the poor folks. "Serves 12-16." But no seconds, see?

— A bargain-priced $699.50 Finish sauna. "No one can beat the Finns when it comes to saunas," swears Messrs. Hammacher Schlemmer. "After all," they add, like a couple of Watergate witnesses, "Finland is the home of the sauna." Like LBJ bugged the White House too, right?

— Or how about "Our Computer Bar — Serves up to 47 Different Drinks Automatically"? All you'll need, of course, is 47 Different Drinks to imbibe in the beautiful walnut cabinet. Then push a button . . . preferably only one at a time. If you're ordering, say, half a dozen of these $1,800 necessities of life by mail be sure you write in the item number — PZ3122. Wouldn't want to get little old Z955 by mistake, would you. It costs only $9.95. As any fool should know, Z955 is a money gun that shoots the exact change into turnpike toll station buckets.

Dr. Armand Hammer, the non-practicing medico who is probably the most-trusted American now doing business with the Soviet Union (he started 50 years ago when his friend Lenin was in power; has kindly offered to build a golf course near Moscow to boost the tourism program of his newer friend, Brezhnev.

This would be the first links in the Iron Curtain.

Brezhnev likes the idea, so it will be constructed. The hope is that Brezhnev doesn't take up the exasperating game himself. It could be the straw that breaks the detente's back.

The building of the first golf course in Israel caused angry debate in the Knesset. Orthodox members of the parliament were indignant that so much land should be devoted to the nonsensical swatting of a ridiculous little ball. If the arid land around Caesarea was going to be made to bloom, they argued, it should be with cabbage. The progressives won the debate, the beautiful course was built, and Israel has lived unhappily ever since.

Whose face on your boob tube has the best chance of selling you toothpaste, cola, shaving cream, small cars and other consumer products? Well, among the sports hucksters, Willie Mays is the Arthur Godfrey of the lot, according to a study made by the Alan R. Nelson Research company and published on the financial pages of the N.Y. Times.

Like most polls taken these days, this one is open to several interpretations. For example, Joe

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the surest ways to oblivion in this country is to fail to check your image regularly.

If your prestige slips, you drown — at least socially. Therefore it is better to keep your best foot forward at all times.

How can a man be sure of how he rates? By taking stock of himself at regular intervals.

For example, you have no need whatever to worry about your standing if —

Every national bank in town closes to celebrate your birthday.

Howard Hughes phones to ask you to tide him over on the weekends when he runs a little short of cash.

Everybody wonders when your name will come up in the Watergate hearing.

Aristotle Onassis has named a new ship in your honor — and naturally it's a supertanker.

You may go to church only one Sunday out of four, but on the Sabbaths when you are absent, no other member of the congregation would dare sit in your usual pew. Anyway, the ushers wouldn't let him.

You have the only gold key to your mistress's apartment. All the keys she gave to other guys are made of brass.

The energy crisis doesn't worry you, because your assistant was thoughtful enough last spring to have a five-year supply of both gasoline and heating oil stored in the private tanks on your country estate.

Your wife had a hard time delivering your son and heir, because the kid was born with two gold spoons in his mouth. Yes, there's no doubt that a man in Namath finished second to Mays in the matter of instant recognition and audience respect-for-talent. But he ended up 143rd on a list of 192 the viewers (pollees) might like to spend their lives with on a desert isle, or in the Great Wasteland. Still, the Jets quarterback did better than Muhammad Ali — who was named third-most-easily-identified, but ranked 190th in the lovability department, trailed only by Lance Rentzel and — you guessed it — Bobby Riggs.

Near the top of the "most trusted" stood Stan Musial, Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra, who divided his time this season between managing the N.Y. Mets, spraying some kind of medication on the toes of the Jolly Green Giant, and arguing with his long-haired sons over the relative merits of plain and fancy jockey shorts.

your situation is up to his armpits in clover. But what about the unfortunate guy who doesn't have it made? How can he be sure of that?

Well, you probably should begin to suspect you're on the skids if —

Neither you nor your dog knows where your next meal is coming from.

Your pastor makes you turn your pockets inside out before and after helping take up the Sunday church collection.

It has been two months since you had enough garbage to go to the bother of taking it out.

You can't play a game of golf until you first walk around the course and find a lost ball.

The jailer at the town drunk tank saves a cell for you every Friday night.

All you inherited from your father was a good name — but that's more than you'll leave your own son.

Your credit rating is so bad that the hardware store won't even advance you enough rope to hang yourself.

On your birthdays all the neighbors feel so sorry for your mother they send her get-well cards.

TEL AVIV (AP) — Industries in Israeli kibbutz collective settlements produced more than $197 million in goods last year in 232 factories, Kibbutz Industries coordinator Dan Karmon reports.

Karmon said 170 kibbutzim have industrial plants, but most derive their incomes from both agriculture and manufacturing.

Firemen, police and bystanders narrowly escaped serious burns when bottled gas, placed in a truckload of furniture, exploded during a fire at the corner of Scioto and Ohio St.

Sgt. Leroy Hawks said the gas cylinders exploded a moment after he drove up in a city police cruiser, when firemen turned a hose on the burning contents of the truck. The driver told Hawks he had loaded a stove, containing hot ashes on the truck, and believed this might have started the blaze.

The Monday Club, observing the Ohio Sesquicentennial as its program for the year, had as guest artist for the program "Ohio Folk Songs and Ballads," Mrs. James W. "Well, it's finally happened. Today our son's hair is longer than our daughter's skirts."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband and I are absolutely miserable. For years we have looked forward to the day when he would be retired and we could start life anew.

When he was 64 he was retired from an active life, and now time hangs heavy.

We do not have enough money to travel. The hours are endless and funless. We are at our wits' end to know how to cope with this "new life."

Mrs. E.T., Ind.

Dear Mrs. T.: You, like many other people, have sadly learned that leisure can be harder work than any of the tasks you dealt with in your younger years.

Time can become a greater burden than a joy when people are suddenly dislocated from active productivity merely because they have attained a chronological age arbitrarily set down by the rules of our society.

The "bluebird of happiness" is a very elusive one and really can be caught by those who suddenly try to seek it without adequate preparation.

Far too many people are given an enthusiastic farewell retirement luncheon with a handsome gift and are then expected to "start life anew," as you say, separated from all of the joys associated with constructive endeavors.

Wise counselors now point out the need for early preparation for eventual retirement.

Interest in music, painting, books, hobby crafts, and unselfish contribution of time to community activities are only a few of the potential possibilities of "training for retirement."

I do not mean to become involved in very time the situation is becoming incendiary.

More realistically, the council will be needed more than ever, not so much to keep prices down, which it has been unable to do, but to bring order to the avalanche of price pressure that is almost certainly coming.

More accurately, they overlooked the government report on rising prices which came on schedule and contained no surprises, even though the timing, on the day before Thanksgiving, might have been inappropriate.

The over-all rise of 9.6 per cent was noteworthy in itself, but of even greater interest and concern was the realization that it represented a sharp acceleration from the 3.6 per cent rise in September.

Food prices rose, although only moderately, and some components of the food index, such as red meat, poultry and eggs, actually declined, which comes as no news to shoppers who are now more price conscious than ever.

But a new factor, the price of energy, introduced itself as a powerful inflation factor and will, in all likelihood, pace future increases in the cost of living. Its impact could be far greater than that of food.

While a 3 per cent increase in gasoline and a 5.7 per cent rise in heating oil-coal are large in themselves, they in turn can ignite explosive increases in other areas of the economy. All industries are energy-dependent.

As energy prices rise, therefore, they can spark increases in such varied segments of the consumer economy as food, transportation and housing, to name only those most basic to the human condition.

Producers everywhere will find their costs of business higher and will try to pass them on in higher prices. It will cost more to heat and illuminate plants, run the machines and deliver the products.

The energy shortage will produce strains elsewhere too. The Cost of Living Council, to illustrate, is seeking to remove price controls — to get the government out of the market — at the very time the situation is becoming incendiary.

philosophical attitudes, yet I cannot resist emphasizing the fact that the greatest gift one can give one's self is the joy of contributing to the happiness of others.

There is no community so small that it does not have a hospital or a clinic that would welcome your service to them. In my hospital it is a never-ending source of delight to see enthusiastic volunteers of all ages spreading warmth, kindness and understanding to patients who are sick, tired or fearful.

The secondary benefits to you from such contribution would be limitless. There are now many clubs and organizations devoted to informal day programs. Times does not "hang heavy" when these hours are made fruitful.

In larger cities there are teaching programs at schools and universities for people who have not lost their intellectual curiosity.

Retirement was never meant to be a dislocation from society. Retirement was never meant to be a burden rather than a gift. Retirement was not meant to be a passive, waiting period during which one's accumulated wisdom was to be disregarded by family and friends.

Travel is undoubtedly an expensive form of escape. But unless there is inner joy, even travel, without meaningful purpose, can be less fulfilling than you think.

Re-examine the patterns of your lives and consider what contributions you can make to society and you will find limitless areas of happiness that are still available to you.

Brezhnev likes the idea, so it will be constructed. The hope is that Brezhnev doesn't take up the exasperating game himself. It could be the straw that breaks the detente's back.

The building of the first golf course in Israel caused angry debate in the Knesset. Orthodox members of the parliament were indignant that so much land should be devoted to the nonsensical swatting of a ridiculous little ball. If the arid land around Caesarea was going to be made to bloom, they argued, it should be with cabbage. The progressives won the debate, the beautiful course was built, and Israel has lived unhappily ever since.

Whose face on your boob tube has the best chance of selling you toothpaste, cola, shaving cream, small cars and other consumer products? Well, among the sports hucksters, Willie Mays is the Arthur Godfrey of the lot, according to a study made by the Alan R. Nelson Research company and published on the financial pages of the N.Y. Times.

Like most polls taken these days, this one is open to several interpretations. For example, Joe Namath finished second to Mays in the matter of instant recognition and audience respect-for-talent. But he ended up 143rd on a list of 192 the viewers (pollees) might like to spend their lives with on a desert isle, or in the Great Wasteland. Still, the Jets quarterback did better than Muhammad Ali — who was named third-most-easily-identified, but ranked 190th in the lovability department, trailed only by Lance Rentzel and — you guessed it — Bobby Riggs.

Near the top of the "most trusted" stood Stan Musial, Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra, who divided his time this season between managing the N.Y. Mets, spraying some kind of medication on the toes of the Jolly Green Giant, and arguing with his long-haired sons over the relative merits of plain and fancy jockey shorts.

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the surest ways to oblivion in this country is to fail to check your image regularly.

If your prestige slips, you drown — at least socially. Therefore it is better to keep your best foot forward at all times.

How can a man be sure of how he rates? By taking stock of himself at regular intervals.

For example, you have no need whatever to worry about your standing if —

Every national bank in town closes to celebrate your birthday.

Howard Hughes phones to ask you to tide him over on the weekends when he runs a little short of cash.

Everybody wonders when your name will come up in the Watergate hearing.

Aristotle Onassis has named a new ship in your honor — and naturally it's a supertanker.

You may go to church only one Sunday out of four, but on the Sabbaths when you are absent, no other member of the congregation would dare to sit in your usual pew. Anyway, the ushers wouldn't let him.

You have the only gold key to your mistress's apartment. All the keys she gave to other guys are made of brass.

The energy crisis doesn't worry you, because your assistant was thoughtful enough last spring to have a five-year supply of both gasoline and heating oil stored in the private tanks on your country estate.

Your wife had a hard time delivering your son and heir, because the kid was born with two gold spoons in his mouth.

Yes, there's no doubt that a man in your situation is up to his armpits in clover. But what about the unfortunate guy who doesn't have it made? How can he be sure of that?

Well, you probably should begin to suspect you're on the skids if —

Neither you nor your dog knows where your next meal is coming from.

Your pastor makes you turn your pockets inside out before and after helping take up the Sunday church collection.

It has been two months since you had enough garbage to go to the bother of taking it out.

You can't play a game of golf until you first walk around the course and find a lost ball.

The jailer at the town drunk tank saves a cell for you every Friday night.

All you inherited from your father was a good name — but that's more than you'll leave your own son.

Your credit rating is so bad that the hardware store won't even advance you enough rope to hang yourself.

On your birthdays all the neighbors feel so sorry for your mother they send her get-well cards.

TEL AVIV (AP) — Industries in Israeli kibbutz collective settlements produced more than $197 million in goods last year in 232 factories, Kibbutz Industries coordinator Dan Karmon reports.

Karmon said 170 kibbutzim have industrial plants, but most derive their incomes from both agriculture and manufacturing.

Firemen, police and bystanders narrowly escaped serious burns when bottled gas, placed in a truckload of furniture, exploded during a fire at the corner of Scioto and Ohio St.

Sgt. Leroy Hawks said the gas cylinders exploded a moment after he drove up in a city police cruiser, when firemen turned a hose on the burning contents of the truck. The driver told Hawks he had loaded a stove, containing hot ashes on the truck, and believed this might have started the blaze.

The Monday Club, observing the Ohio Sesquicentennial as its program for the year, had as guest artist for the program "Ohio Folk Songs and Ballads." Mrs. James W. Grimes of Columbus, well known folk singer. Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, club vice president, presided at the meeting in the Presbyterian Church.

Arguments over the proposed sale of a fire truck owned by the Rural Township Fire Association finally was headed for the long awaited decision in court.

Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer was asked to prepare court action to force the sale of the pumper, held in a Jackson Township garage since May. The Association ended its fire-fighting partnership with the city of Circleville at that time.

"Well, it's finally happened. Today our son's hair is longer than our daughter's skirts."

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Speaking Of Your Health

My husband and I are absolutely miserable. For years we have looked forward to the day when he would be retired and we could start life anew.

When he was 64 he was retired from an active life, and now time hangs heavy.

We do not have enough money to travel. The hours are endless and futility. We are at our wits' end to know how to cope with this "new life."

Mrs. E.T., Ind.

Dear Mrs. T.:

You, like many other people, have sadly learned that leisure can be harder work than any of the tasks you dealt with in your younger years.

Time can become a greater burden than a joy when people are suddenly dislocated from active productivity merely because they have attained a chronological age arbitrarily set down by the rules of our society.

The "bluebird of happiness" is a very evasive one and really can be caught by those who suddenly try to seek it without adequate preparation.

Far too many people are given an enthusiastic farewell retirement luncheon with a handsome gift and are then expected to "start life anew," as you say, separated from all of the joys associated with constructive endeavors.

Wise counselors now point out the need for early preparation for eventual retirement.

Interest in music, painting, books, hobby crafts, and unselfish contribution of time to community activities are only a few of the potential possibilities of "training for retirement."

I do not mean to become involved in philosophical attitudes, yet I cannot resist emphasizing the fact that the greatest gift one can give one's self is the joy of contributing to the happiness of others.

There is no community so small that it does not have a hospital or a clinic that would welcome your service to them. In my hospital it is a never-ending source of delight to see enthusiastic volunteers of all ages spreading warmth, kindness and understanding to patients who are sick, tired or fearful.

The secondary benefits to you from such contribution would be limitless. There are now many clubs and organizations devoted to informal day programs. Times does not "hang heavy" when these hours are made fruitful.

In larger cities there are teaching programs at schools and universities for people who have not lost their intellectual curiosity.

Retirement was never meant to be a dislocation from society. Retirement was never meant to be a burden rather than a gift. Retirement was not meant to be a passive, waiting period during which one's accumulated wisdom was to be disregarded by family and friends.

Travel is undoubtedly an expensive form of escape. But unless there is inner joy, even travel, without meaningful purpose, can be less fulfilling than you think.

Re-examine the patterns of your lives and consider what contributions you can make to society and you will find limitless areas of happiness that are still available to you.

NEW YORK (AP) — The only relief from one economic problem appears to be the distraction of a newer one. Because of their concern about energy, that is, a lot of people overlooked still another rise in living costs.

More accurately, they overlooked the government report on rising prices which came on schedule and contained no surprises, even though the timing, on the day before Thanksgiving, might have been inappropriate.

The over-all rise of 9.6 per cent was noteworthy in itself, but of even greater interest and concern was the realization that it represented a sharp acceleration from the 3.6 per cent rise in September.

Food prices rose, although only moderately, and some components of the food index, such as red meat, poultry and eggs, actually declined, which comes as no news to shoppers who are now more price conscious than ever.

But a new factor, the price of energy, introduced itself as a powerful inflation factor and will, in all likelihood, pace future increases in the cost of living. Its impact could be far greater than that of food.

While a 3 per cent increase in gasoline and a 5.7 per cent rise in heating oil-coal are large in themselves, they in turn can ignite explosive increases in other areas of the economy. All industries are energy-dependent.

As energy prices rise, therefore, they can spark increases in such varied segments of the consumer economy as food, transportation and housing, to name only those most basic to the human condition.

Producers everywhere will find their costs of business higher and will try to pass them on in higher prices. It will cost more to heat and illuminate plants, run the machines and deliver the products.

The energy shortage will produce strains elsewhere too. The Cost of Living Council, to illustrate, is seeking to remove price controls — to get the government out of the market — at the very time the situation is becoming incendiary.

More realistically, the council will be needed more than ever, not so much to keep prices down, which it has been unable to do, but to bring order to the avalanche of price pressure that is almost certainly coming.

Man Held For Escape And Arson

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — A hearing has been set for Monday for a 32 year-old escapee from an Ohio psychiatric unit who is charged with burglary and kidnaping in connection with a bizarre break-in Wednesday night.

Joseph Alexander Myers, a native of Freeman in Mercer County who fled the psychiatric ward at a veterans hospital in Chillicothe, Ohio, was ordered held on $25,000 bond Friday following his arrest as flames destroyed a fashionable private home here.

Police said Myers entered the William S. Fox residence unannounced and asked Fox and his housekeeper, "What are you doing in my house?" Fox's son then fled and called authorities who arrived to find Myers barricaded inside.

Fox and the housekeeper escaped through a bathroom window and Myers allegedly set the house afire as police bombarded it with tear gas canisters.

Overcome by the gas, Myers crashed through a glass door onto the patio and allegedly exchanged gunfire with police, who wounded him in the cheek. Myers, calling for help, then surrendered.

The house was gutted by the flames.

They'll Do It Every Time

That Long Day In Dallas

By JIM BISHOP

Father Oscar Huber chewing Friday's fish when he heard that Kennedy had been shot. He and a curate hopped into a car and hurried to Parkland Hospital. Men with drawn guns tried to hold them back. Huber made it to Trauma One.

He saw green tile, frightened faces of doctors and nurses against the rear wall, and Mrs. Kennedy beside him. The floor was streaked with blood. He removed a stole from a black case, kissed it, and put it around his neck. The body was long and covered with a white sheet. The feet were visible. They were so white that Father Huber told himself: "There is no blood in this man."

He imparted the last rites, with conditional Extreme Unction, and pulled the sheet away to uncover the gray skin and the staring eyes. He anointed the dead President. "Father, do you think the sacrament had effect?" Mrs. Kennedy feared her husband's soul might have fled before the sacrament had been administered. "Oh yes. Yes indeed," Huber said. She wrung her hands. "Pray for Jack," she begged.

In an hour, Father Huber had seen his first live President and his first dead one. Kennedy's men — Kenneth O'Donnell and Dave Powers — urged the Secret Service to get Lyndon Johnson aboard Air Force One at once. Mrs. Kennedy begged Malcolm Kilduff, assistant Press Secretary, to tell the press that Kennedy had died at 1 p.m. — not 12:30. That would make the last rites valid in her mind.

The Secret service raced the blood-soaked Lincoln to Love Field. "See?" Dallasites said. "There he goes. He wasn't shot." Johnson was squeezed into a car with Congressmen and hurried to the airport. Dallas, which had accorded Kennedy a more manly welcome than was in their hearts, was numb with shock.

A Justice of the Peace tried to hold the body, stating that it amounted to a homicide committed in Dallas, and autopsy would have to be performed. Secret Service agents, with O'Donnell and Powers, said: "We're getting out of here." The Justice of the Peace was angry. The Cart shoved the J.P. and a policeman out of the way.

In Oak Cliff, Officer J.D. Tippit drove alone in his squad car. He moved slowly across Kiest Boulevard toward Illinois. Police radio Channels One and Two were heavy with babbling, orders about searching an overpass and "get some men in that building."

Tippit was a non-panic cop. To make an extra buck, he worked the movies at night, keeping children quiet. Tippit drove out of Area 78 to 109. A radio voice said: "... an unknown white male, approximately 30, slender build, height five feet ten inches, reported armed..." Second voice: "What is he wanted for?"

Radio voice: "Signal 19 (shooting) involving the President." Tippit listened and parked his car at Eighth Street and Corinth. Then he inched the car along the curb at Zangs and Beckley. At the School Depository, Dallas police and manager Roy Truly were lining up employees. One was missing. His name was Lee Harvey Oswald. He was the only one who did not return from lunch.

Tippit was on Tenth, crossing Patton. A white male was walking ahead. Tippit rolled the right window down. The man stopped. Tippit got out of the left side of the car and leaned on the hood. Four shots caught the cop. As he fell beside the wheel of his car, he drew his gun and his face fell on it.

Lee Harvey Oswald dogtrotted through horrified witnesses. He was headed toward Jefferson. At 1:16 p.m., police headquarters heard a citizen pick up a police radio and shout: "We had a shooting out here." "Where's it at?" The dispatcher called J.D. Tippit: "78?" There was no answer. Dallas had two separate murders.

On Jefferson, squad cars roared by with screaming sirens as Lee Harvey Oswald looked idly in the window of a shoe store. Inside, a loud radio said that Kennedy was dead. Johnny Brewer, manager of the shoe store, thought the stranger outside looked suspicious. He watched him walk the street to the Texas Theatre where "Cry of Battle" with Van Heflin was showing. Oswald sneaked in.

Brewer asked the cashier if the stranger had bought a ticket. Julia Postal said no. Brewer phoned the police. In 10 minutes, the Texas Theatre was surrounded, and, after a struggle, Lee Harvey Oswald, was manacled and under arrest.

The cops booked him for Tippit's murder. They didn't know it, but they had a much bigger little man...

Burr Oak Bomb Call Proves Hoax

GLOUCESTER, Ohio (AP) — It is business as usual today at Burr Oak State Park, after a search by sheriff's deputies failed to turn up a bomb.

A bomb threat note had been found in a metal trash can at the park early Sunday.

About 20 persons were evacuated from their rooms during the search, said John Jeffers, assistant manager of the lodge. They were permitted to return after the search was over.

"Half a dozen persons checked out, but several others have registered since then," Jeffers said. "It's business as usual."

The lodge and dining rooms had remained open, he added.

The note reportedly said a bomb would go off in the lodge before 5 p.m.

Burr Oak was closed two months last summer by Gov. John J. Gilligan. The facility had been the target of a series of bomb threats.

Ohio Inns, which operates the lodge and inn, has been at odds with employees over union organizing.

Continuing Steel Demand Hampered By Energy Crisis

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The energy problem for steel companies begins with the demand for steel holding at a level exceeding the industry's production capacity, Industry Week magazine said today.

"That's true despite steel company forecasts of a dip in ordering by the automotive industry for February deliveries," it said. "All this will do, steel companies say, is to make more steel available to other markets where it will be absorbed quickly because demand remains on the upswing for plates, structural shapes and tubular products."

The magazine said that prior to the energy shortages the chief problem for the steel companies was to increase raw steel production.

"After declining from three million tons a week to 2.7 million, raw steel production recovered recently to 2.9 million tons—enough to guarantee full-year shipments of 110 million net tons of finished products," it added.

Industry Week said that because of the intense need for steel, U.S. mills maintained a high rate of raw steel production during the Thanksgiving holiday. It estimated last week's output at 2,935,000 net tons.

"The continued strong demand and the success in raising raw steel output are prompting some firms to increase shipment estimates for 1974 from 100 million to 104 million tons," Industry Week said.

The magazine's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap climbed to another record high of $84 per gross ton last week. This compared with the previous record of $76.67 the preceding week.

MRS. STEPHEN A. GARY

Miss Judith A. Anderson Weds Stephen A. Gary

The marriage of Miss Judith A. Anderson and Mr. Stephen A. Gary took place 2:30 p.m. Nov. 3rd at Brown's Chapel Church in Clarksburg.

The Rev. Michael Wright performed the double ring service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Anderson, Route 1, Clarksburg and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Gary, Richmondale.

Mr. Don Metzler, organist and Mr. Steve Speakman, vocalist, presented a program of nuptial selections. The church was decorated with two baskets of white daisies and gladioli, palms and two seven-branch candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected for her wedding day a formal length gown of white chantilly lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a stand-up lace collar and long fitted sleeves. The bouffant lace teared skirt flowed to a peacock train and the bride wore a camelot crown of lace and crystals holding a chapel length mantilla bordered with lace. She carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations and sweetheart roses with white streamers tied in lover's knots.

Maid of honor, Miss Sharon Hyar of Clarksburg, was attired in a mint green knit gown in princess style featuring a stand-up collar and long sleeves ending in ruffles over her hands. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow pompons with yellow ribbon and a brief veil caught to a Dior bow as her headpiece.

Miss Sally Norris of New Holland, Miss Melanie Maxson of Circleville and Miss Becky Gary of Richmondale were bridesmaids. They were dressed as the honor attendant in yellow and carried colonial bouquets of bronze and yellow pompons with green streamers and yellow headpieces.

Miss Jay Drummond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Drummond, was flower girl. Master Steve Kershner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary P. Kershner was ring bearer.

Mr. Michael F. Dilley of Chillicothe performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Mr. Gregory K. Gary of Richmondale, Mr. James Rucker and Mr. Charles F. Kramer of Chillicothe.

The bride's mother wore an emerald green and gold silk acetate metallic dress with gold accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a navy blue knit suit with red accessories. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

A reception in the social room of the church immediately followed the ceremony. The table, covered with a lace cloth, was centered with a five tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom and surrounded with fern and white carnations.

Hostesses were Miss Connie Drummond, Miss Beth Hiser, Miss Jan Hiser, Miss Jenny Harman, Miss Rita Harmount, Mrs. Sally Justice, Mrs. Jim Ackley, Miss Cathy Ackley, Miss Judy Shull, Mrs. John Ater, Mrs. Solon Graham and Mrs. Ella McDonald. Mrs. Larry McKillip attended the guest book.

As the couple left for a wedding trip the bride wore a cranberry and white knit suit with a white ruffled blouse and black accessories and the rose corsage from her wedding bouquet. The couple now resides at Route 1, Clarksburg.

The bride graduated from Adena High School and Bliss College in Junior

Creative Christmas Tour Of Homes Planned By Club

Darby Valley Garden Club members will hold their 1973 "Tour of Homes" on Sunday, December 2, from 3 until 9 p.m. Five homes are being decorated by members for the pleasure and browsing of the public.

Included in this year's tour are the Werner L. Sloman residence, Zuber Road; the home of Jennie and Ralph Huffman in the Village of Harrisburg; the new country home of J. Berk and Rosemary Roach on Biggert Road; the country farm house of the Allen Grossmans; and the Timberlake home of Isabelle and Bill Lucas on Meadow Lark Lane.

Each features a different holiday theme expressing the artistic and individual talents of Darby Valley members. Those taking the tour will also be welcomed to Fellowship Hall of the Harrisburg United Methodist Church for refreshments. Tickets and tour maps will be available at the Church or advance tickets may be purchased from any member.

Mrs. Allen Grossman is serving as general chairman of the tour assisted by all club members.

Guild 20 Holds Annual Dinner

Berger Hospital Guild 20 held its annual Thanksgiving carry-in turkey dinner Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Frances Rose, Route 3.

Assisting hostesses were Ruth Croman, Eloise Dunkle and Joan Dawson. There were 16 members and one guest, Jerry Diltz, present for the affair.

The tables were decorated with Pilgrim ladies designed with egg whippers as a base at each place and dinner was eaten by the light of kerosene lamps.

Mystery sister gifts were received by Mary Clark, Annie Mowery, Ann Short, Pauline Hansen, Mary Hamilton and Alma McCoy.

It was voted that in the future, the November committee would make reservations at a place of their choice for the Thanksgiving dinner party.

Hostesses for the Dec. 18th Christmas Party will be Olive Hettinger and Mabel Poling.

Scioto Valley Grange To Honor Anniversary

Scioto Valley Grange plans to honor Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bumgarner for their 50th wedding anniversary.

All members and friends are cordially invited to a carry-in dinner 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at the grange hall.

Business Administration. She is employed as a secretary at Boilermakers Union in Chillicothe.

The bridegroom graduated from Southeastern High School and Ohio University with a degree in Business Administration. He is employed at Public Furnace in Chillicothe as assistant manager.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Frankfort, Circleville, Columbus, Hamilton, Chillicothe, Gallion, Grove City, Waverly, Cleveland, Canton, Springfield, Williamsport, Washington C.H., New Holland, Bainbridge and Cincinnati, Ohio and Virginia.

Union Guild Elects Officers Names Committees For Year

Officers and committee members were named during the Tuesday meeting of Union Guild in the home of Mrs. Clyde Herron, Route 2. Mrs. Muriel Ott was assistant hostess for the afternoon.

Miss Lyn Owings Speaker For League

Miss Lyn Owings was speaker for the recent meeting of Child Conservation League in the home of Mrs. T. D. Van Camp, Edgewood Drive. Mrs. Larry Priest conducted the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Robert McKelvey, president.

Thank you letters were read from those who received donations from the league and a report on a sponsored child in pre-school was read.

Members were reminded to bring canned goods for the Christmas basket for a needy family. Monetary donations will be accepted at the Christmas meeting.

Miss Owings, speech and hearing therapist in the city schools, gave some details of her work with the children and also some valuable ways to handle those with speech difficulty. She said that it is normal for children to stutter until they have mastered the difficult muscle movements used in proper speech. After her talk she answered questions from the members.

The annual Christmas Tea will be held 1 p.m., Dec. 4th, for members, associate members and charter members at the home of Mrs. T. L. Huston, 235 Marshall Road. The Circleville Boys Choir will present a program.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Widow's Mourning Too Much

DEAR ABBY: I have a good friend (I'll call her Nellie) whose husband died on Christmas Day four years ago. They had been married for more than 60 years, and Nellie is still mourning for him. She keeps crying: "Harry, why did you leave me?"

Abby, I have been a widow for 22 years, and I loved my husband as much as Nellie loved Harry, but I realized feeling sorry for myself was making everybody else miserable by crying all the time wasn't going to help, so I just put on a happy face and accepted it.

Nellie tells me that one of her friends wrote: "Cry as much as you feel like it, until you are all cried out."

I don't agree with that. I think if she would quit crying, and thank God for the 60 good years she had with Harry, she would be better off.

What do you say?

GRANDMA IN FLORIDA

DEAR GRANDMA: I say, how one handles his grief is a very personal matter. (Some never are "cried out.") Putting on an "act" of courage often builds strength. And it certainly is an act of charity to one's friends.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest your opinion of wifewapping. Thank you for saying "To me, the sexual expression of love is a beautiful, private thing between two people, and using sex to achieve the ultimate in a thrill which could conceivably include the whole neighborhood is for animals."

Now, may I relate my own experience in that regard? After my husband and I had been happily married for 10 years, he suggested wifewapping. The idea was disgusting to me, but he kept insisting it would improve our relationship, even though I thought our relationship was fine, because I loved him and wanted to please him, I agreed to try it. It was the most foolish decision I ever made.

Mexican Dentists Get More Business

ALGODONES, Mex. (AP) — Americans with toothaches are heading south of the border to this sleepy Baja town of 2,500 residents.

The cavity victims cross into Mexico — 10 miles west of Yuma, Ariz. — by the hundreds each month, gingerly baring their bridgework to the care of Algodones' six dentists.

Their offices fill the town's street nearest to the border and the dentists and their patients say their fees are about one-third less than those north of the border.

"I can't keep up with the number of patients that come here. I have as many as 35 patients a day," said Dr. Pierre Magana, 32. He came here less than four years ago and says he was the first to start practicing.

Magana has one assistant to help him run a six-office dental clinic which he estimated cost him $160,000 to build. "I just hope it's going to be large enough," he said, sounding a note of worry.

Dr. Jose Valenzuela, 44, said Americans are lured to Algodones "because the price is right."

"We are at least one-third cheaper than dentists on the other side. But we pride ourselves in being good dentists," said Valenzuela. "All our dental supplies come from the States. There is no difference in our work and that of competent dentists in the United States."

All six dentists display similar signs

Farm Group Rips Profits

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP) — County presidents of the Farmers Union in Ohio have called for a tax on excess profits allegedly being reaped by some industries because of the energy crisis.

"No segment of the economy should profit from the energy situation at the expense of the public," the presidents declared in a resolution.

Meeting Monday near Dayton, the members rejected a tax on consumers of gasoline and other fuels as an indirect method of rationing. They said such a tax would impose a hardship on persons least able to pay.

The resolution also recommends that the federal government establish a mandatory fuel allocation program, giving a high priority to agricultural needs.

In a radio and television speech Sunday, President Nixon announced such an allocation program would be unveiled Tuesday.

Guadalajaran's Life Work Is Building A Church

By GUY H. LEATHERWOOD
For The Herald

EDITOR'S NOTE: The author of these articles is not a newcomer to the Herald's readers. His travel series have appeared in this newspaper on Alaska and Israel. A retired postal supervisor, farmer and real estate dealer, he lives in Ashville.

When Gale was in Guadalajara in 1960 he talked to a man who was working on a church building. This church was his life work. He was born about 1900 and had worked on it since about 1915.

It is still not completed. The scaffold is still up for the construction of the main steeple. I hope he is still living and gets to see it finished. That IS dedication.

The road to San Blas is a mountainous two land highway and is heavily traveled, especially to Tepec, the capital of the state.

At Tequila we ate breakfast. Gale knows Spanish after a fashion and he thought he had ordered scrambled eggs for all of us. Eggs yes—but with some type of Mexican sauce. Now as far as I am concerned the Mexicans make the world's worst coffee—even worse than the Israelis. But after those eggs the coffee wasn't too bad to wash them down with—I might even get to like Mexican coffee—BUT I doubt it—unless I get some more eggs with those little green peppers. Well I learned to leave the little green ones on the plate.

I have come to one conclusion. Gale's Spanish is going to have to improve, or I will have to learn Spanish myself or depend on sign language altogether. Maybe with all three we can make it. Wonder how one says in Spanish "no, no senorita, I do not want any more green peppers, or red peppers or blue peppers or any kind of Mexican HOT peppers. Thank

Cadillacs, Ford Buses Are Recalled

DETROIT (AP) — Two U.S. automakers are recalling more than 383,000 Cadillacs and school buses.

General Motors Corp. announced Friday the recall of 380,000 1971 and 1972 model Cadillacs, and Ford Motor Co. said it was recalling 3,527 of its 1973 and 1974 model school buses.

GM's Cadillac Division said owners were being asked to return cars to dealers to correct insufficient lubrication on the steering control if corrosion becomes serious. Eldorado models are not included in the recall, GM said.

Ford said its recall was begun to check buses for possible incorrect routing of nylon air pressure brake tubes. Ford said tubes improperly routed could melt due to contact with the exhaust pipe, cutting rear wheel braking performance.

Loss of air pressure to the parking brake could cause the rear brakes to be applied unexpectedly, an official said.

TEQUILA GROWING—The drink Tequila is produced from a special cactus grown near the town of Tequila in Mexico. It is the only place in the world where it is produced.

you so very much, senorita." We redeemed the situation with a fine slice of pineapple at the outdoor market, for one peso.

The drink Tequila gets its name from the town of Tequila or is it the other way around? It is produced from a special cactus that is grown in hundreds or possibly thousands of small fields. Must be hundreds of acres of it. It is produced here at Tequila and bottled in Guadalajara. I understand this is the only place in the world that it is manufactured. I don't know from experience but I understand it has the kick felt round the world.

Beyond Tequila there is a lava field from a volcano. The highway leads through it.

We saw a modern chicken farm. But of course the weather is mild and the confinement buildings have very little siding. There must be thousands raised here on this one farm. I would imagine that this one farm supplies eggs for much of this section of Mexico.

How the Mexicans load the little burros. They are truly a beast of burden. They remind me so much of the way they are used in Israel. What a friend this little animal has been to man.

One of them loaded with sugar cane on the way to the mill looks like a shock of corn upside down walking.

On our trip we have seen little wild life. A bob cat killed on the road and the carcasses of two foxes is about the extent of it with the exception of a small squirrel which ran across the highway. The desert conditions no doubt account for much of this.

Ohio Driver License To Cost More Jan. 1

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio drivers will pay more for licenses beginning Jan. 1, and they'll get more.

C. Donald Curry, registrar of the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles, said the license will cost $5.50, a dollar more than the present fee. But he said the licenses will carry a color photograph of the driver and last four years instead of three.

Curry said instant process cameras will be used to take the photographs at about 200 locations around the state.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Widow's Mourning Too Much

DEAR ABBY: I have a good friend (I'll call her Nellie) whose husband died on Christmas Day four years ago. They had been married for more than 60 years, and Nellie is still mourning for him. She keeps crying: "Harry, why did you leave me?"

Abby, I have been a widow for 22 years, and I loved my husband as much as Nellie loved Harry, but I realized feeling sorry for myself was making everybody else miserable by crying all the time wasn't going to help, so I just put on a happy face and accepted it.

Nellie tells me that one of her friends wrote: "Cry as much as you feel like it, until you are all cried out."

I don't agree with that. I think if she would quit crying, and thank God for the 60 good years she had with Harry, she would be better off.

What do you say?

GRANDMA IN FLORIDA

DEAR GRANDMA: I say, how one handles his grief is a very personal matter. (Some never are "cried out.") Putting on an "act" of courage often builds strength. And it certainly is an act of charity to one's friends.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest your opinion of wifeswapping. Thank you for saying "To me, the sexual expression of love is a beautiful, private thing between two people, and using sex to achieve the ultimate in a thrill which could conceivably include the whole neighborhood is for animals."

Now, may I relate my own experience in that regard? After my husband and I had been happily married for 10 years, he suggested wifeswapping. The idea was disgusting to me, but he kept insisting it would improve our relationship, even though I thought our relationship was fine, because I loved him and wanted to please him, I agreed to try it. It was the most foolish decision I ever made.

The result: Two divorces, and five beautiful children who now miss their daddies.

Contrary to what the swingers say, there can be no sex without some emotional involvement. Because I loved my husband, I went too far to please him, and lost my self respect.

TOO LATE

DEAR TOO LATE: My mail concerning wifeswapping is running 20 to 1 against it.

DEAR ABBY: Our problem concerns our son (age 30) who gave a 25-year-old girl an engagement ring last winter in anticipation of a June wedding.

His fiancée's sister (age 20) has just announced her engagement to a young man, 21, and therein lies the problem. The parents of these sisters have talked the girls into having a double wedding to save expenses.

My son doesn't want to upset his fiancée, or get on the wrong side of her parents, but he says the idea of a double wedding turns him off. Frankly, it doesn't appeal to us either. The girl he is marrying has a large family, and the other bridegroom, we are told, also has a lot of relatives. They are talking about 700 wedding guests and a bridal party of 30!

Abby, we feel that a three-family wedding of this size will be more like a three-ring circus.

Please tell us how our son should handle this without alienating his bride or her family. No names or city, please.

MOM AND POP

DEAR MOM AND POP: Your son should make it plain to his bride that he doesn't want to share his wedding day with another couple. The fact that YOU are writing about your son's problem may say something about his reluctance to speak his piece. You can't run interference for him all his life. It's his problem. Let him handle it.

Mexican Dentists Get More Business

ALGODONES, Mex. (AP) — Americans with toothaches are heading south of the border to this sleepy Baja town of 2,500 residents.

The cavity victims cross into Mexico — 10 miles west of Yuma, Ariz. — by the hundreds each month, gingerly baring their bridgework to the care of Algodones' six dentists.

Their offices fill the town's street nearest to the border and the dentists and their patients say their fees are about onethird less than those north of the border.

"I can't keep up with the number of patients that come here. I have as many as 35 patients a day," said Dr. Pierre Magana, 32. He came here less than four years ago and says he was the first to start practicing.

Magana has one assistant to help him run a six-office dental clinic which he estimated cost him $160,000 to build. "I just hope it's going to be large enough," he said, sounding a note of worry.

Dr. Jose Valenzuela, 44, said Americans are lured to Algodones "because the price is right."

"We are at least one-third cheaper than dentists on the other side. But we pride ourselves in being good dentists," said Valenzuela. "All our dental supplies come from the States. There is no difference in our work and that of competent dentists in the United States."

All six dentists display similar signs

Farm Group Rips Profits

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP) — County presidents of the Farmers Union in Ohio have called for a tax on excess profits allegedly being reaped by some industries because of the energy crisis.

"No segment of the economy should profit from the energy situation at the expense of the public," the presidents declared in a resolution.

Meeting Monday near Dayton, the members rejected a tax on consumers of gasoline and other fuels as an indirect method of rationing. They said such a tax would impose a hardship on persons least able to pay.

Japan Seen Good Tobacco Customer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Japan, the biggest single-country buyer of U.S. farm products generally, is shaping up as a potentially huge market for American tobacco, the Agriculture Department said today.

Tobacco use in Japan has increased eight-fold the past decade, the Foreign Agricultural Service said in a report. But Japanese production has declined, meaning that more tobacco has had to be imported.

U.S. exports of leaf tobacco to Japan, although increasing, have not kept pace with the over-all growth in the Japanese market, the report said. In calendar 1972, for example, the United States supplied 52 per cent of the tobacco imported by Japan, the smallest share in 20 years.

"In spite of the shrinking market share, both the quantity and value of U.S. leaf exports to the booming Japan market have increased every year," the report said. "Future sales seem almost certain to expand substantially, especially in view of dollar devaluation."

The report was written by B. G. Andrews, a commodity analyst in the tobacco division of the Foreign Agricultural Service.

Andrews said higher living standards and consumer demand for quality tobacco have been major factors in the Japanese market boom.

"As a result, consumption prospects and import requirements are expected to continue advancing, with imports probably reaching a total of 80,000 tons by 1975, over one-third larger than the present level," the report said.

Andrews told a reporter he could not estimate how much of the future market growth might be taken up by U.S. tobacco. The most important point, he said, was that Japan appears to be a solid customer in the years ahead.

In his report, Andrews said the smoking-and-health issue has not been a major obstacle for the tobacco industry in Japan "since the Japanese enjoy a very low incidence of both heart disease and lung cancer."

Light, southerly winds were forecast to bring clear skies to the state today, tonight and early Tuesday.

Overnight lows will be in the 40s, but highs Tuesday will climb no higher than the upper 40s and 50s.

Wintery, unsettled weather appears in store for the state over the next couple of days as a series of rapidly-moving disturbances advance through Ohio. Showers and possibly some thundershowers are forecast during the remainder of the week.

Skies were generally cloudy over the state last night and early today, although clearing had begun in eastern counties this morning. Lows early today were in the 30s and 40s.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A California congressman plans to renew his attack on Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford for his 1970 effort to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Rep. Jerome R. Waldie, D-Calif., has accused Ford of being "the handmaiden" to President Nixon and former Atty. Sen. John N. Mitchell in a politically-motivated campaign to remove Douglas from the bench and enable Nixon to make another court appointment.

While Ford faces a fourth day of questioning today at his confirmation hearings before the House Judiciary Committee, the Senate is scheduled to open debate on his confirmation, which was approved unanimously by the Senate Rules Committee. Ford, the House Republican leader, is expected to win overwhelming approval when the Senate votes.

Ford is also assured of confirmation by the Judiciary Committee and the full House, but Waldie and several other Democrats on the Judiciary Committee think Congress is moving too fast to replace Spiro T. Agnew.

Waldie began prolonged questioning

Storms Hit Missouri, Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms belted southwest Missouri and Arkansas today as the area recovered from a weekend outbreak of tornadoes and high winds that left three persons dead.

Hailstones two inches in diameter lashed Broken Bow in southeast Oklahoma Sunday night as the storms moved northeastward from Texas.

Warm, moist air from the Gulf rushed north ahead of a fast-developing weather system which was moving eastward from the central Rockies. Rain fell over the Plains states along with a little sleet and snow in South Dakota.

Drizzle hung over the southern California coast, rain fell over the northern coast and scattered snow fell over an area from northern Utah to western Montana.

Drizzle and rain were scattered over the eastern Ohio Valley to the middle Atlantic coast states. Skies were fair over parts of Texas and Colorado, the Dakotas, most of Florida and north along the coast through Virginia, and a shrinking area in the lower Ohio and middle Mississippi valleys.

Solon Hits Ford Attack On Douglas

of Ford about the Douglas impeachment move last Wednesday and established that Ford had asked Mitchell for help in his impeachment investigation and received several "leads" from the Justice Department that he followed up.

At a news conference Friday Waldie said the leads were actually detailed statements about various activities and associates of Douglas that were incorporated nearly verbatim in a Ford speech in April, 1970, outlining his case against Douglas. Waldie said in his view some of the information appeared to be from the confidential files of the FBI and the Central Intelligence Agency.

"I think Gerry Ford was acting as the handmaiden for Nixon and Mitchell in order to rid the court of Justice Douglas," Waldie said at the news conference.

A spokesman for Ford denied that he had acted at the request of the White House.

Ohio Tax Exemptions Face Check

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Property tax exemptions in Ohio are due for a review, a private research agency has disclosed.

The review will be undertaken by the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals, said Charles A. Calhoun, executive director of the Ohio Public Expenditure Council.

Calhoun said his group has been concerned about "continuing and rapid erosion" of the real property tax base in the Buckeye state. He said OPEC has sought an "in-depth" review for some time.

More than 17 per cent of the total valuation of real property in Ohio's 230 cities was exempt from taxes in 1973, Calhoun said. The total value was $3.5 billion.

Exemptions have outstripped taxable property values nearly 20 per cent during the same period, he said.

The exemptions cost taxpayers extra in costs for schools and local government, Calhoun said.

Take Devices Off Engines, Netzley Urges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to save gasoline by permitting owners to remove automobile anti-pollution devices will be offered when the Ohio General Assembly reconvenes in January.

The sponsor will be state Rep. Robert E. Netzley, R-81 Laura.

"Federal law requires these emission controls be put on cars, but there's no law I know of that forbids taking them off," he said.

Netzley, manager of the Netzley Oil Co., said the devices produce cleaner auto exhaust, but consume more fuel. The equipment first was installed on 1970 model cars.

The bill would permit car owners or service station operators to remove the devices, the legislator said.

The state Environmental Protection Agency contends Netzley is basically right, but the federal EPA promises a court battle if the legislature passes the measure.

A spokesman for the Ohio EPA said nothing in federal or Ohio law prohibits owners or filling station mechanics from removing the devices.

But a spokesman for the federal EPA said the state legislature could be in violation of the U.S. Clean Air Act if Netzley's bill becomes law.

Netzley conceded the possibility of a court challenge, but said the emission control equipment is the work of "irresponsible environmentalists" and should be discontinued.

Burglars Hit Clothing Store

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Burglars carted away $75,000-worth of women's clothing and $950 cash in a weekend robbery of a Swift Shopping Center store, police said.

Police said the burglars disconnected the burglar alarm, removed a door and replaced it upon leaving.

Tobacco use in Japan has increased eight-fold the past decade, the Foreign Agricultural Service said in a report. But Japanese production has declined, meaning that more tobacco has had to be imported.

U.S. exports of leaf tobacco to Japan, although increasing, have not kept pace with the over-all growth in the Japanese market, the report said. In calendar 1972, for example, the United States supplied 52 per cent of the tobacco imported by Japan, the smallest share in 20 years.

"In spite of the shrinking market share, both the quantity and value of U.S. leaf exports to the booming Japan market have increased every year," the report said. "Future sales seem almost certain to expand substantially, especially in view of dollar devaluation."

The report was written by B. G. Andrews, a commodity analyst in the tobacco division of the Foreign Agricultural Service.

Andrews said higher living standards and consumer demand for quality tobacco have been major factors in the Japanese market boom.

"As a result, consumption prospects and import requirements are expected to continue advancing, with imports probably reaching a total of 80,000 tons by 1975, over one-third larger than the present level," the report said.

Andrews told a reporter he could not estimate how much of the future market growth might be taken up by U.S. tobacco. The most important point, he said, was that Japan appears to be a solid customer in the years ahead.

In his report, Andrews said the smoking-and-health issue has not been a major obstacle for the tobacco industry in Japan "since the Japanese enjoy a very low incidence of both heart disease and lung cancer."

Light, southerly winds were forecast to bring clear skies to the state today, tonight and early Tuesday.

Overnight lows will be in the 40s, but highs Tuesday will climb no higher than the upper 40s and 50s.

Wintry, unsettled weather appears in store for the state over the next couple of days as a series of rapidly-moving disturbances advance through Ohio. Showers and possibly some thundershowers are forecast during the remainder of the week.

Skies were generally cloudy over the state last night and early today, although clearing had begun in eastern counties this morning. Lows early today were in the 30s and 40s.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A California congressman plans to renew his attack on Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford for his 1970 effort to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Rep. Jerome R. Waldie, D-Calif., has accused Ford of being "the hand- maiden" to President Nixon and former Atty. Sen. John N. Mitcheli in a politically-motivated campaign to remove Douglas from the bench and enable Nixon to make another court appointment.

While Ford faces a fourth day of questioning today at his confirmation hearings before the House Judiciary Committee, the Senate is scheduled to open debate on his confirmation, which was approved unanimously by the Senate Rules Committee. Ford, the House Republican leader, is expected to win overwhelming approval when the Senate votes.

Ford is also assured of confirmation by the Judiciary Committee and the

Storms Hit Missouri, Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thunderstorms belted southwest Missouri and Arkansas today as the area recovered from a weekend outbreak of tornadoes and high winds that left three persons dead.

Hailstones two inches in diameter lashed Broken Bow in southeast Oklahoma Sunday night as the storms moved northeastward from Texas.

Warm, moist air from the Gulf rushed north ahead of a fast-developing weather system which was moving eastward from the central Rockies. Rain fell over the Plains states along with a little sleet and snow in South Dakota.

Drizzle hung over the southern California coast, rain fell over the northern coast and scattered snow fell over an area from northern Utah to western Montana.

Drizzle and rain were scattered over the eastern Ohio Valley to the middle Atlantic coast states. Skies were fair over parts of Texas and Colorado, the Dakotas, most of Florida and north along the coast through Virginia, and a shrinking area in the lower Ohio and middle Mississippi valleys.

Ohio Tax Exemptions Face Check

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Property tax exemptions in Ohio are due for a review, a private research agency has disclosed.

The review will be undertaken by the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals, said Charles A. Calhoun, executive director of the Ohio Public Expenditure Council.

Calhoun said his group has been concerned about "continuing and rapid erosion" of the real property tax base in the Buckeye state. He said OPEC has sought an "in-depth" review for some time.

More than 17 per cent of the total valuation of real property in Ohio's 230 cities was exempt from taxes in 1973, Calhoun said. The total value was $3.5 billion.

Exemptions have outstripped taxable property values nearly 20 per cent during the same period, he said.

The exemptions cost taxpayers extra in costs for schools and local government, Calhoun said.

Take Devices Off Engines, Netzley Urges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to save gasoline by permitting owners to remove automobile anti-pollution devices will be offered when the Ohio General Assembly reconvenes in January.

The sponsor will be state Rep. Robert E. Netzley, R-81 Laura.

"Federal law requires these emission controls be put on cars, but there's no law I know of that forbids taking them off," he said.

Netzley, manager of the Netzley Oil Co., said the devices produce cleaner auto exhaust, but consume more fuel. The equipment first was installed on 1970 model cars.

The bill would permit car owners or service station operators to remove the devices, the legislator said.

The state Environmental Protection Agency contends Netzley is basically right, but the federal EPA promises a court battle if the legislature passes the measure.

A spokesman for the Ohio EPA said nothing in federal or Ohio law prohibits owners or filling station mechanics from removing the devices.

But a spokesman for the federal EPA said the state legislature could be in violation of the U.S. Clean Air Act if Netzley's bill becomes law.

Netzley conceded the possibility of a court challenge, but said the emission control equipment is the work of "irresponsible environmentalists" and should be discontinued.

Burglars Hit Clothing Store

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Burglars carted away $75,000-worth of women's clothing and $950 cash in a weekend robbery of a Swifton Shopping Center store, police said.

Arnold Barnett, owner of Rochele, Inc., reported the theft Sunday.

Police said the burglars disconnected the burglar alarm, removed a door and replaced it upon leaving.

Solon Hits Ford Attack On Douglas

of Ford about the Douglas impeachment move last Wednesday and established that Ford had asked Mitchell for help in his impeachment investigation and received several "leads" from the Justice Department that he followed up.

At a news conference Friday Waldie said the leads were actually detailed statements about various activities and associates of Douglas that were incorporated nearly verbatim in a Ford speech in April, 1970, outlining his case against Douglas.

Waldie said in his view some of the information appeared to be from the confidential files of the FBI and the Central Intelligence Agency.

"I think Gerry Ford was acting as the handmaiden for Nixon and Mitchell in order to rid the court of Justice Douglas," Waldie said at the news conference.

A spokesman for Ford denied that he had acted at the request of the White House.

FOR TUESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Don't fret if lack of ready cash temporarily delays the launching of a pet project. There's no hurry. In fact, time is definitely on your side.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): You intuition at a peak. Follow your hunches and trust to luck. Good results will follow.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You, too, will be extremely perceptive now. No matter how great the opposition, stick to your decisions.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Excellent lunar influences should especially benefit scientific pursuits, research and educational interests. Family concerns also favored.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23): Favorable aspects stimulate originality and some chance-taking—IF reasonable. Don't go out on the proverbial limb, however, and DO avoid extremism.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A challenging day! New opportunities indicated, chances to give more rein to your creative abilities.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You may have some replanning to do, but the general outlook indicates gains in most areas. A special reward may come from an unexpected source.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Mars influences auspicious. Tailor moves sagely to fit the occasion. If stresses arise, ease off sufficiently to think and judge more clearly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): This is no time to venture forth in search of "greater pastures." Stick to the tried and proven or some things could get out of hand.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You may face some resistance to plans, unforeseen obstacles, but you can find ways to skirt them. Mostly it will depend on your perception, logic and will power.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Especially favored now: business interests and personal relationships. Stress your efficient and amenable side and you can't help but earn credits.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Something pleasant, and unexpected, should bring you great joy and lift your spirits for a long time to come. It could be either good news or a romantic adventure.

YOU BORN TODAY are individualistic, highly creative, progressive in your thinking, and logical, too. Your drive instills ambition in many, and your high ideals and integrity are an inspiration to all with whom you come in contact. All this, of course, if you are developing your finest traits. You are a born wanderer and could also shine as a trial lawyer for there is no more persuasive and convincing a talker than the Sagittarian at his best. Other fields suited to your talents: corporation management, finance, literature and statesmanship. Birthdate of: Guillaume Dufay, French musicologist; David Merrick, theatrical producer.

Booklet Out On Jazz History

NEW YORK (AP) — Helpful, yet inexpensive, writings about jazz are a project of the New York Jazz Museum.

Just out is "The Jazz Story — an Outline History of Jazz," a 30-page booklet written by jazz authority Dan Morgenstern. It covers the history of jazz from the African roots to today's forms. There is also a section of recommended jazz records and books.

The booklet is available at the museum free to those who make a contribution or purchase from the jazz shop. By mail it costs 25 cents.

The first booklet, 20 pages "Billie Holiday Remembered," was out in April and is available only at the museum. Further booklets are planned.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — The Children's Television Workshop, producers of public television's award-winning "Sesame Street" and "Electric Company," says it's thinking about commercial TV ventures to help finance its public television efforts.

But a spokesman for CTW, a non-profit corporation heavily supported by federal funds, emphasized the idea is neither a certainty nor is it even under heavy consideration right now.

CTW officials aren't giving it "any higher priority at the moment than any one of a number of things we're considering," said Robert A. Hatch, CTW's vice-president for public affairs.

"So I think that as far as we could go," he added, "is to say that it's one of many things that's under consideration at the Workshop as it explores means of survival as an experimental educational center."

He said CTW faces a financial crunch that primarily came about because the U.S. Office of Education, which gave CTW $6 million the last fiscal year, plans to halve that amount this year.

Another factor, he said, has been a sharp reduction in financial support from private foundations for CTW's two children's shows.

He was specifically asked if CTW might form a commercial arm to produce children's shows in hope of syndicating them or selling them to networks with the sole idea of plowing all profits back into the Workshop's public television projects.

The question of CTW producing shows for commercial TV — either on a regular or an infrequent basis — was prompted by a Julie Andrews special on ABC-TV, "Julie on Sesame Street."

The program, taped in London and aired Friday night, featured the Muppets of "Sesame Street" and the setting on which they appear on public television.

Hatch, asked if this wasn't laying CTW open to charges of commercialism, said, "I would hope not. We've got to live, we've got to exist. We're a nonprofit operation and right now we're facing a drying-up of government and foundation money."

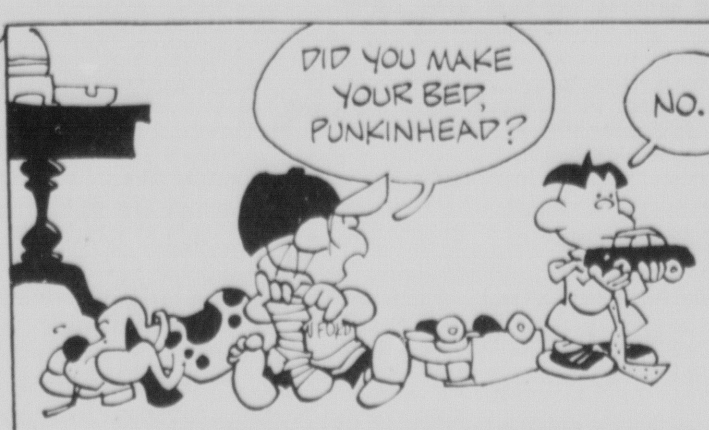

He said the net income from overseas sales of "Sesame Street" and the sale of related playthings, records and educational materials came to about $2 million last year.

However, Hatch said, "our operating budget to make 'Sesame' and the 'Electric Company' was $11.8 million, so you can see that doesn't cut very much of that big, big pie."

Although he described the fee from Miss Andrews' special as small, he said the real benefit was the national prime-time exposure of "Sesame Street" to millions of viewers who may never have seen the show before on television.

But what income would that produce for the Workshop? "Well," Hatch said, "I guess a larger audience will always mean we have a better chance to make a case with Congress, with the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, with others who'd support us."

Television Schedule

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Don't fret if lack of ready cash temporarily delays the launching of a pet project. There's no hurry. In fact, time is definitely on your side.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): You intuition at a peak. Follow your hunches and trust to luck. Good results will follow.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You, too, will be extremely perceptive now. No matter how great the opposition, stick to your decisions.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Excellent lunar influences should especially benefit scientific pursuits, research and educational interests. Family concerns also favored.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23): Favorable aspects stimulate originality and some chance-taking—IF reasonable. Don't go out on the proverbial limb, however, and DO avoid extremism.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A challenging day! New opportunities indicated, chances to give more rein to your creative abilities.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You may have some replanning to do, but the general outlook indicates gains in most areas. A special reward may come from an unexpected source.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Mars influences auspicious. Tailor moves sagely to fit the occasion. If stresses arise, ease off sufficiently to think and judge more clearly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): This is no time to venture forth in search of "greater pastures." Stick to the tried and proven or some things could get out of hand.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You may face some resistance to plans, unforeseen obstacles, but you can find ways to skirt them. Mostly it will depend on your perception, logic and will power.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Especially favored now: business interests and personal relationships. Stress your efficient and amenable side and you can't help but earn credits.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Something pleasant, and unexpected, should bring you great joy and lift your spirits for a long time to come. It could be either good news or a romantic adventure.

YOU BORN TODAY are individualistic, highly creative, progressive in your thinking, and logical, too. Your drive instills ambition in many, and your high ideals and integrity are an inspiration to all with whom you come in contact. All this, of course, if you are developing your finest traits. You are a born wanderer and could also shine as a trial lawyer for there is no more persuasive and convincing a talker than the Sagittarian at his best. Other fields suited to your talents: corporation management, finance, literature and statesmanship. Birthdate of: Guillaume Dufay, French musicologist; David Merrick, theatrical producer.

Booklet Out On Jazz History

NEW YORK (AP) — Helpful, yet inexpensive, writings about jazz are a project of the New York Jazz Museum.

Just out is "The Jazz Story — an Outline History of Jazz," a 30-page booklet written by jazz authority Dan Morgenstern. It covers the history of jazz from the African roots to today's forms. There is also a section of recommended jazz records and books.

The booklet is available at the museum free to those who make a contribution or purchase from the jazz shop. By mail it costs 25 cents.

The first booklet, 20 pages "Billie Holiday Remembered," was out in April and is available only at the museum. Further booklets are planned.

See Farm Production Excessive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unless export markets continue to expand, next year's farm production may greatly exceed domestic demands, the president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation said today.

Should no new foreign markets open, said Leonard Schnell, the result could be economic chaos.

Achnell's comment came in remarks prepared for the opening of the organization's 55th annual meeting. More than 1,200 members were expected to attend.

"Unless additional new foreign markets are found and honored within the next year, carryovers of most grains will depress prices once again," he said.

He also said farmers should rework the "agriculture marketing structure to provide for an operating farm income that will cover all of our production costs and a reasonable return on investment."

The result, he said, would be to "provide the American consumer with an even supply of quality food with enough left over to fill our export demand."

Cambodians Repel Red Assaults

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Government forces repelled four insurgent attacks early this morning on positions along Highway 4 between Phnom Penh and the sea, military sources said.

Seven government soldiers and 32 Khmer Rouge insurgents were killed and 15 government troops wounded, the sources said.

The clashes were reported near the provincial town of Kompong Speu, 30 miles west of Phnom Penh. Supply traffic from the coast to Phnom Penh is blocked by insurgent forces who control a five-mile stretch of the highway about 35 miles southwest of the capital. Along Highway 5, Phnom Penh's supply road from the rice fields of northwest Cambodia, 12 government soldiers were reported killed and 25 wounded in three days of fighting north of Sala Lek Pram, 35 miles north of the capital, where the highway is cut by insurgents.

In Saigon, the Viet Cong charged the South Vietnamese with the heaviest bombing since the cease-fire in a raid on the Communist base at Kontum, 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

Saigon military sources confirmed the claim and said 114 bombing sorties were flown against the base Friday. The bombing apparently was in retaliation for a North Vietnamese rocket attack earlier Friday against the government air base at Pleiku.

Watergate prosecutor's staff, who had been deeply suspicious of Jaworski, have come to like that difference.

But still unanswered is whether it will lead Jaworski into the same sort of confrontation with the White House retracted the confession and was never convicted of any of the 13 deaths.

The former handyman was serving a life term at the maximum security prison for assaults on four other women.

A spokesman said DeSalvo's body was found about 7 a.m. in a cell in the prison's hospital section where DeSalvo worked as an orderly.

DeSalvo, 42, died of multiple stab wounds in the chest. No weapon was found and there were no suspects, the spokesman said.

During DeSalvo's assault trial in January 1967, his lawyer, F. Lee Bailey, attempted to get the confession to the stranglings entered into evidence. He was able only to present such testimony from psychiatrists whom DeSalvo had told he was the strangler.

DeSalvo was convicted of burglary, armed robbery and sexual molestation.

State authorities have long maintained they did not have evidence to prosecute anyone for the stranglings.

The case of the Boston Strangler caused a worldwide sensation. The victims ranged in age from 19 to 75. Most had been associated with health care, either as nurses, hospital volunteers, workers in physicians' offices, or friends of nurses and doctors. All lived within a 26-mile radius of Boston.

The biggest manhunt in Massachusetts' history was touched off on Feb. 24, 1967 when DeSalvo and two other inmates escaped from Bridgewater State Hospital a month after DeSalvo's assault trial.

DeSalvo, who had been at the hospital awaiting an appeal, was captured 1½ days later in a Lynn, Mass., clothing store, where he had asked to use the telephone.

DeSalvo was at the hospital before the trial, undergoing observation for an alleged sexual molestation offense, when his cellmate, George Katar, persuaded Bailey to represent DeSalvo.

Bailey at first resisted but agreed to do it only a day before detectives arrived at the hospital to question DeSalvo about the stranglings.

Bailey tape-recorded DeSalvo's story under an agreement with the state attorney general's office that it could not be used against him. Detectives were said to have found that most of what he said tallied with the evidence of the crimes.

that led to the firing of Cox.

"I want such tapes as are material and I intend to get them," Jaworski told the Senate Judiciary Committee, which is considering a bill that would cloud his status by establishing a court-appointed special prosecutor.

"I may move a little faster than some people would," Jaworski told the committee.

He was sworn in as special prosecutor Nov. 5 and two days later sent the White House a formal request for still another tape of a presidential conversation.

Jaworski's readiness to move quickly to obtain more evidence impressed staff lawyers accustomed to Cox's tendency to agonize over fine legal points that might prove more significant to the Supreme Court than to a federal grand jury.

"Archie was always looking ahead to the appeals," one staff member said. "Jaworski has more of a prosecutor's mentality."

The favorable impression Jaworski has made on his staff and on Congress appears to have undercut chances for passage of a court-appointed prosecutor bill.

So far, the White House has given the new prosecutor far more promises of cooperation than Cox ever received. Gone are the claims of executive privilege and the need to maintain the confidentiality of presidential discussions with aides.

But it has only been promises, so far. Neither Jaworski nor U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica has received any of the documents or tapes Cox went to court to obtain.

When Cox, after two court decisions upholding his right to obtain White House tapes, defied a presidential order to halt his efforts, President Nixon fired him on Oct. 20.

The dismissal left Cox's staff stunned and embittered but determined to stay intact, if possible, and continue its investigations.

The White House too was stunned by the public outcry at Cox's dismissal. Within a week, the President agreed to give Sirica the tapes Cox had subpoenaed and to permit Acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork to name a new special prosecutor.

Bork's choice of Jaworski, head of a huge Houston, Tex., law firm and a former president of the American Bar Association, was greeted skeptically by the staff Cox had recruited. They viewed Jaworski as likely to compromise rather than risk a confrontation with the President.

Jaworski has received a commitment from the White House that Cox had never gotten. Jaworski said that whenever the White House says that material must be withheld in the interests of national security, he or someone he designates will be allowed to examine the tapes or documents to determine if the claim is valid.

Recession In Picture?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's largest bank, the Cleveland Trust Co. predicts that energy problems this winter could trigger the worst recession in the United States since 1960-61.

Bulletin this weekend that unemployment would rise and corporate profits would drop if the winter months bring fuel hoarding or if a higher priority is placed on home heating oil than industrial fuels.

President Nixon announced cut-backs Sunday night in heating oil and said the reductions will average 10 per cent for industry, 15 per cent for home use and 25 per cent for commercial use.

The bulletin noted that the nation's Gross National Product has increased in recent years only at the expense of higher and higher rates of energy consumption.

Oil and natural gas will become more scarce in the future, and nuclear power is "still highly speculative," the bank said. Although coal supplies are abundant, use of that fuel still involves environmental problems, the bulletin added.

"Clearly, unless substantial increase in the supply of energy is forthcoming by 1975, there will be fundamental change in the American way of life," the newsletter said.

6 Governors Set Conference

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan says the six Great Lakes states governors will discuss the energy crisis, pollution, federal programs and other items of mutual interest when they meet in Cleveland Dec. 9 and 10.

Scheduled to attend the conference with Gilligan are governors Patrick Lucey of Wisconsin, Dan Walker of Illinois, Wendell Anderson of Minnesota, William Milliken of Michigan and Bob Bowen of Indiana.

Bowen and Milliken are Republicans. The others are Democrats.

Church School Blaze Arson?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland Fire Chief William Barry says fires that destroyed St. Agnes Catholic Church school on Cleveland's East Side Sunday night may have been deliberately set.

Three firemen were injured. Damage was estimated unofficially at $500,000, although the pastor of St. Agnes, the Rev. Joseph C. McDonough, said he had asked permission from the Cleveland Catholic Diocese to have the building torn down.

Barry said fires were burning in several places when his men reached the 71-year-old school.

Staff Likes Difference Between Cox, Jaworski

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big difference between Archibald Cox and Leon Jaworski is the difference between a constitutional lawyer and a prosecutor.

And many lawyers on the special

Watergate prosecutor's staff, who had been deeply suspicious of Jaworski, have come to like that difference.

But still unanswered is whether it will lead Jaworski into the same sort of confrontation with the White House

'Boston Strangler' Slain In Prison

WALPOLE, Mass. (AP) — Albert DeSalvo, who confessed to being the Boston Strangler of the 1960s, was found stabbed to death in his prison cell today, corrections officials reported.

Although DeSalvo confessed to killing 13 women in the Boston area between 1962 and 1964, he later retracted the confession and was never convicted of any of the 13 deaths.

The former handyman was serving a life term at the maximum security prison for assaults on four other women.

A spokesman said DeSalvo's body was found about 7 a.m. in a cell in the prison's hospital section where DeSalvo worked as an orderly.

See Farm Production Excessive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unless export markets continue to expand, next year's farm production may greatly exceed domestic demands, the president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation said today.

Should no new foreign markets open, said Leonard Schnell, the result could be economic chaos.

Achnell's comment came in remarks prepared for the opening of the organization's 55th annual meeting. More than 1,200 members were expected to attend.

"Unless additional new foreign markets are found and honored within the next year, carryovers of most grains will depress prices once again," he said.

He also said farmers should rework the "agriculture marketing structure to provide for an operating farm income that will cover all of our production costs and a reasonable return on investment."

The result, he said, would be to "provide the American consumer with an even supply of quality food with enough left over to fill our export demand."
